THE TOTAL LAST YEAR

Mrs. Nora Bierstadt Killed;
Mrs. Florence Lambert Niedringhaus Injured in King's Highway Crash.

A month's record of 23 automobile fatalities was established for St. Louis today—the closing day of November—with 137 recorded for the year, which just equaled the number of fatalities for all of 1922.

In the twenty-third fatality a woman lost her life, and the accident also cost the life of an unborn child, which, the autopsy today revealed, lacked but a few days of birth. It was one of a dozen automobile accidents of Thanksgiving day, many of which were attributed to rain.

Woman Killed in Crash.
The expectant mother who lost her life was Mrs. Nora Bierstadt, 25 years old, wife of Francis Bierstadt, 6246 Magnolia avenue, a former Captain of the 128th Infantry and a traveling salesman. The crash also resulted in injuries to Mrs. Florence Lambert Niedringhaus, daughter of Mrs. Adolphus Busch III. Mrs. Niedringhaus, wife of Warren Niedringhaus, was removed to Barnes Hospital, where it was said today she had suffered a deep cut on the right side of the forehead and a cut on the chin.

Mrs. Bierstadt was accompanied by her husband in their car, returning from the office of their family physician. They were on their way to the home of her husband's father, Patrolman William F. Bierstadt, for a Thanksgiving dinner. Their coupe, driven by Bierstadt, skidded as Bierstadt applied the brakes in front of 5105 South Kings highway, and tumbled to the west side in the path of a touring car driven south by Niedringhaus. Mrs. Bierstadt was thrown out of the car suffering a skull fracture. She died within a short time.

Bierstadt was treated at city hospital for injuries to the back and chest. Niedringhaus was taken to the Mount Pleasant Police Station. He said he was driving about 12 miles an hour, when the Bierstadt coupe skidded directly in his path. Niedringhaus suffered a slight injury to the knee.

Occupants of Machine Flee After It Is Overturned in Collision.
An automobile driven by Samuel Bendick of 5148 Raymond avenue collided with another car at Twentieth and Olive streets at 11 p. m. The other car, which was occupied by several men, and which turned over, was abandoned by its occupants, but the police traced the ownership to Ben Tesmer, 22, a chauffeur of 1947 Maiden Lane. They found Tesmer in a doctor's office, where he was being treated for cuts and bruises of the head. He denied being in the crash, but he was held for leaving the scene of an accident. Tesmer, police say, was held recently by authorities of Carlinville, Ill., after an automobile, driven by Tesmer, overturned in a ditch resulting in the fatal injury of his wife.

Francis Dapron, 16, son of Charles Dapron of 7407 Carondelet avenue, Clayton, was the driver of an automobile which struck Michael Harrison, 61, of 4568 West Papin street at Delmar boulevard and Skinker road. Harrison was taken to City Hospital and treated for a fracture of the right shoulder.

John Dugan, 50 years old, of 1813 Washington boulevard, was struck in front of 622 North Vandeventer avenue, and taken to City Hospital suffering from fractured ribs and probable skull fracture. Alex Kuyk, 41, of 1444 Monroe street, was struck at Tenth street and Cass avenue, and taken to City Hospital suffering from a skull fracture.

Five Hurt in One Accident.
About 10:40 yesterday morning, Arthur C. Strubel, 23, a railroad ticket agent, of 4394 A Oregon avenue, struck and overturned a car driven by Casper A. Pilot at Walsh street and Louisiana avenue. In Strubel's car were five others. Including his mother, Mrs. Virginia Strubel, who suffered a fractured rib, and his wife, Margaret, 23, who suffered injuries to the left thigh. Strubel's car was struck from the rear by a touring car, which struck the head and his brother, Louis, and sister, Helen, who were taken to St. Anthony's Hospital for treatment of numerous cuts.

An automobile driven by Miss Olivia Remmert, daughter of William H. Remmert, a real estate dealer, of 2618 Gurney court, struck a machine driven by Charles Rahling, 24, of 4335A Penrose street, at Palm street and Glasgow avenue. Miss Remmert was removed to her home and treated for a fracture of the hip.

Licenses Driver Caught.
When John Sonnen, 22, a cook of 1505 South Tenth street, driving a licenseless car east in Cherokee street, struck another car in front of 2737 Cherokee street. Patrolman Burke of the Soudard District ordered Sonnen to drive his car to the curb out of traffic, but Sonnen refused to stop and started on. The patrolman then commanded the other car, driven by Walter Blanton of the Warwick Hotel, and started in pursuit. After several blocks' chase, in which a number of shots were fired, Sonnen was caught and arrested for fleeing from the scene of an accident, careless driving and being without a license.

Dry Law Fines and Penalties.
By the Associated Press.
LAWYERS, Nov. 30.—During the fiscal year ending June 30, last, the prohibition bureau turned into the Treasury $5,142,546, representing fines, penalties and forfeitures in connection with enforcement of the dry laws. The figures do not include fines assessed in State courts. In making the figures public today, the bureau pointed out that the appropriation for prohibition enforcement last year was only $8,350,000.

$200,000 Fire at Tampico.
By the Associated Press.
TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 30.—Fire early today swept a block of small business houses and offices on the outskirts of the city's commercial district. The damage is estimated at about $200,000. There were no casualties. A strong north wind hindered the firemen, as did the darkness and failure of the water pressure in consequence of the electricians' strike which has left the city without light or power for the last two days.

Demand That Gov. Hyde Call Special Session to Speed Road Program General Throughout State

tion of the Legislature should be called. The program has been started and nothing should be allowed to interfere with such good work.

George L. Dyer, manager of Columbia National Life Insurance Co. and member of General Council on Civic Needs: I would like to see the program hurried up, and it seems that a special session is required. The Governor's position that the legislators pledge themselves to confine their consideration wholly to the purposes for which the session would be called, in my opinion, is a reasonable one. I believe in calling the special session because I believe in promptness of action with a due regard for all whom that action may affect.

John G. Lowndes, president of the Missouri Bar of Commerce: I believe in calling the special session because I believe in promptness of action with a due regard for all whom that action may affect.

Louis Nolte, City Comptroller: Everybody is in favor of good roads and we ought to have them as speedily as possible.

James W. Byrnes, president of Byrnes Bellingham & Co., Democratic nominee for Mayor at the last election: The road work should be speeded up and completed at the earliest practicable moment. It is a matter of public necessity it ought to be called.

Rev. Dr. George A. Campbell, president of Church Federation and pastor of Union Avenue Christian Church: I am very greatly in favor of speeding up the program. I believe in the general trend of the program, and I am not informed as to the methods to be used.

Joseph J. Morrow, chairman of Democratic City Committee: I am in favor of the good roads program and in favor of calling the special session. I have made three or four trips to the State Highway Commission. I am very much impressed with the work of the commission. I am inclined to think the commission is doing a good job. I am justified in following their judgment—they are the experts. I'm for building roads. The greatest thing in the world for the people is to have more and more miles of hard roads.

Rabbi Leon Harrison of Temple Israel, member of General Council on Civic Needs: We in Missouri cannot afford to stand apart from other States in the general trend of progress. This is an era of good roads. It means economy for the farmer, increased social life for the farmer and an agriculture less arduous and onerous. It means everything to the State. I feel quite sure Gov. Hyde will see his way out of this. I think the Legislature should be called. I think the Legislature should be called. I think the Legislature should be called.

William T. Johnson, Kansas City, former State Senator and member of Constitutional Convention: Most sessions of the Legislature have been expensive calamities. The Governor should not call a special session except in case of a great emergency. I think the Legislature should be called. I think the Legislature should be called.

OPINION IN STATE URGES GOVERNOR TO

The Legislature for this purpose. Representative opinion in this territory favors completing our State roads program in the shortest possible time. If this is not done, a very considerable amount of our money will be wasted in overhead expense. That is to say, unless our road program is completed in four years, our overhead expense in supervision and salaries will be doubled, to say nothing of being without the use of the roads.

John M. Maloney, Joplin former State Senator, former Superintendent for a previous State Highway Commission, and a real good roads builder: By reason of the fact that a majority of the Legislature has agreed to pass a law as set out by questionnaires sent them for their approval and the further fact that such a law will furnish funds to complete our road program in four years instead of eight at a great saving of money and time. I think it important that a special session be called immediately for that purpose. I am sure the above reflects the opinion of 95 per cent of the motor vehicle owners of this section of the State.

L. O. Shrevebury, Osceola, editor of the St. Clair Republican: I apprehend we have had a sufficient number of special sessions of the Legislature.

F. T. Crowley, Lawson, member of Democratic State Committee: I believe the Legislature should be called in special session to provide money to carry out the good roads program of the State Highway Commission.

J. W. Gravelley, Bolivar, editor of the Bolivar Free Press: We agree with Gov. Hyde that it is not wise to call a special session until the Road Commission agrees to an definite plan. An interminable debate in the Legislature is not desired by the taxpayers.

Wallace Crossley, Warrensburg, former Lieutenant-Governor, former State Senator, member of the Constitutional Convention, and editor of the Warrensburg Star-Journal: If the State Highway Commission has assisted in creating emergency by making larger plans and carrying a larger overhead expense than the Legislature has intended in providing for road construction, the Governor should recognize it, as an emergency and act accordingly. I believe the General Assembly, if called into extra session, will reflect public sentiment on this great question. The Governor should revenues in order that the highway work may be hastened to an early completion. Why not, get the results as soon as possible.

W. L. Offenberg, Lebanon, banker and former member of Republican State Committee: I believe Gov. Hyde should convene the Legislature in special session to provide money necessary to carry out the good roads program. I believe in the general trend of the program, and I am not informed as to the methods to be used.

Roads Situation in a Nutshell

GOV. HYDE, indecisive in his campaign for Governor on the question of good roads, arose to the emergency after his election, and joined in promoting a road law to meet the State's requirements. That it might not be influenced by politics and legislative log rolling he called a special session of the Legislature in 1921 to consider road legislation solely.

After the law was enacted he chose Theodore Gary, a man of unusual experience in big construction and organization work, to head the commission, and gave him as associates on the commission men of proven business ability. As a consequence, the State Highway Department has been organized on thorough business lines and speeded up to top-notch production.

Now the Governor is hesitating to follow the urgent advice of Gary and this commission to call a special session of the Legislature to permit this anxious to see the good roads program carried forward as speedily as possible. It would be most unfortunate to construct roads and not provide for their maintenance. The Governor is in a position to be better informed than anyone else as to the necessity of convening the General Assembly in special session.

Joshua W. Alexander, Gallatin, former member of Congress, former State Senator, Secretary of Commerce and member of Constitutional Convention: I believe Gov. Hyde should call extra session in view of present emergency based on the road program proposed by the State road law system, save the public millions of dollars by cutting down the overhead and providing possible roads for the farmers.

Charles L. Ferguson, Doniphan, lawyer and former member of the Legislature: I do not think a special session of the Legislature is necessary unless positively necessary to save good roads program.

Berryman Henwood, Hannibal, lawyer and former member of the Legislature: I do not think a special session of the Legislature is necessary unless positively necessary to save good roads program.

Robert S. McClintock, Monroe City, lawyer and former State Senator: Complete success of the road program justifies and demands the calling of a special session of the Legislature. All reasonable objections have been removed by the State Highway Commission. The Legislature should be called to consider the one real accomplishment of Gov. Hyde's administration. His failure to convene the Legislature would be a most unfortunate precedent.

"SENATE AND HOUSE LEADERS SHOULD PUT BILL UP TO GOVERNOR"

SENTIMENT IN MISSOURI favors speeding up the road program as recommended by the Highway Commission. Gov. Hyde has announced that he is in full accord therewith. I suggest that President Painter, Floor Leader, Harris and Chairman Cave of the Senate Road Committee meet with Speaker Hunter, Floor Leader Mazy and Chairman Hains of the House Roads Committee, agree on a bill and put it up to the Governor to call a special session.

Arch T. Hollenbeck, West Plains, Postmaster, former member of the State Prison Board, and member of Republican State Committee.

wise, I am opposed to it.

Hugh C. Scott and Fred M. Harrison, Gallatin, respectively chairman and secretary of Daviess County Republican Committee: We doubt seriously the advisability of calling an extra session of the Legislature. The expense, coupled with the fact that we do not know whether legislators would or could agree on a satisfactory program, makes it inadvisable to call an extra session of the Legislature. Obviously the road program will be held up to some extent, but we cannot see where there would be the present disposition.

R. A. Pearson, Joplin, former Circuit Judge: Road program should be speeded. A special session is a small detail in so important and necessary an enterprise. Jasper County knows and has carried out a road program for the state to emulate. A larger proportion of the voted bond issue should be made available or a gasoline tax, possible under the new Constitution.

William W. Wilder, Sta. Genevieve, former State Auditor and a Republican state leader: I am heartily in favor of an extra session of the Legislature to provide necessary funds to carry out the road program that is in progress. To wait for action of the next Legislature will cause loss of time in our state road building.

Robert T. Gilmore, Kansas City, former State Senator and member of Constitutional Convention: I appreciate the importance of a rapid development of the good roads program. I have neither given the matter sufficient thought nor do I have sufficient information to undertake to say whether Gov. Hyde should call a special session of the Legislature.

George E. McIninch, St. Joseph, former member of State Highway Commission: Iowa plan to pay-as-you-go is a much better plan than to sell bonds. State road-building should be continuous. I favor larger motor car license.

E. W. Stephens, Columbia, member of State Capitol Commission: Unquestionably Gov. Hyde should call an extra session at once.

William M. Bowker, Nevada, lawyer and former State Senator: I believe an extra session could relieve the crisis in road program, result in speeding up the building of roads, and make a great saving in overhead expenses. Besides, the people want the roads built now.

J. D. McDonnell, Brookfield, chairman of Linn County Republican Committee and editor of Linn County Daily Budget: We shall allow the Governor and his advisers to do as they think wise. We might have been more favorable if the commission had done something for the roads in Linn County the place of spending so much of the money appropriated on the road between St. Louis and Kansas City. We need a tax on gasoline.

S. C. Bates, Springfield, lawyer

"DEMAND AND NECESSITY JUSTIFY CALLING OF LEGISLATIVE SESSION"

IN my opinion, the demand for an extra session is so great, and the necessity so apparent, the Governor would be justified in calling an extra session, limiting legislation to be considered to an increase of automobile license. A gasoline tax should be left to a regular session, because it involves many problems not to be considered hastily. Automobile owners are almost unanimous in favor of an increase in license that there may be no let-up in building Missouri roads. The commission is well qualified to carry on a large program and has the confidence of the people. The organization built up at large expense should be permitted to function and road building on a wide scale continued without curtailment. Otherwise, I see failure for program contemplated when the extra session of the Legislature is called. Walter E. Bailey, Carthage, former chairman of House Committee on Roads.

R. T. Wood, Springfield, president of the Missouri State Federation of Labor: I can see no reason for going to the expense of calling a special session of the Legislature. There is no reason to believe that another extra session would be any farther with carrying out the program for the expenditure of the $30,000,000 bond issue than the last extra and regular session. At any rate, it is my opinion an extra session should not be called until next spring.

Alonso Tubbs, Owensville, former member of Legislature, former chairman of Gasconade County Republican Committee: Am not prepared to give intelligent opinion on road matter. Prefer that Gov. Hyde use his own judgment to extra session of the Legislature.

W. H. Noble, Lamar, chairman of Barton County Republican Committee: I do not believe Gov. Hyde should call an extra session of the Legislature in view of the present emergency. The Legislature should be called to consider the one real accomplishment of Gov. Hyde's administration. His failure to convene the Legislature would be a most unfortunate precedent.

BIXBY TELLS OF STOCK DEAL FOR BLANKE ESTATE

Broker, Who Paid $300 Share, Sold 1735 Shares of Granby Mining Stock for $400 Each, He Testifies.

GIVES DEPOSITION IN ACCOUNTING SUIT Beneficiaries Under Will
Suing to Recover $173,000 From the St. Louis Union Trust Co.

Circumstances under which 1735 shares of Granby Mining Co. stock were sold by the St. Louis Union Trust Co. for the estate of Mary Jane Blanke, were related today in depositions of William K. Bixby and J. Lionberger Davis, in a suit of beneficiaries under the will of the deceased to recover $173,000 from the trust company.

In a bill of exceptions recently filed to an accounting of the trust company, allegations were made by Mrs. Ida Mary Long, 5219 Russell avenue, chief beneficiary under the will, that the trust company received only $300 a share for the stock for which there was a market of $400 a share.

The Blanke estate amounts to about $1,300,000 and was placed in trust for Mrs. Long and her three sons, as has been told. The will was broken after the testator, Harold L. Long, when a law student, discovered the will violated the rule against perpetuities.

Bixby testified he was a director of the trust company in 1916 and a member of the Trust Committee when the stock was sold.

In March, 1916, he testified, the trust company executed an option to G. H. Walker & Co., investment brokers, to find a market for the stock. Bixby testified he showed that G. H. Walker personally made a sale for the stock and finally arranged a sale of the entire Granby stock to the American Zinc and Smelting Co.

Walker returned to St. Louis and sought to exercise his option with the trust company. Officials of the trust company had learned that he was to receive $400 gross per share for the stock.

Bixby, John F. Shepley and other directors of the trust company refused to exercise his option. Walker then sought to have Walker raise his price to the trust company from $250 to $300 a share for the Granby stock in the Blanke estate.

Says Walker Raised Price.
Bixby testified that he asked Walker to be generous with the stock estate, from which the stock was taken. In view of the big price that was to be paid for it by the American Zinc and Smelting Co., and that other directors of the trust company brought pressure on Walker to have him raise his option price from $250 to $300 a share.

Walker did raise to this figure and the stock was assigned to him on May 2, 1916. On May 29 he sold the stock for $400 a share, in cash and securities, or $178 net, after the trust company's share of the company $100 a share.

Bixby admitted the directors and members of the Trust Committee knew before the stock was assigned to Walker that $400 a share was being offered for it, but said the trust company believed itself bound by the option given in March to Walker.

Did Not Vote on Transaction.
Bixby did not vote on the transaction as a member of the Trust Committee, which he explained on the ground that his son, William K. Bixby, was a partner in the Walker Co., and he wanted to be "very careful in view of this relationship."

He testified that the late Henry Haarschick, who was director of the trust company, brought Mrs. Blanke to the trust company and together with Shepley handled her will.

Bixby was asked by John M. Goodwin, attorney for Mrs. Long, if he had not owned 180 shares of the Granby stock that Walker sold for him for $400 a share, and he answered that he could not recall that he had ever owned any of the stock.

The trust company, Bixby continued, sought a market for the stock for several months and had given the option to Walker in the hope of finding such a market. He said the trust company had been informed, after investigations by its own officials and others, that the stock was worth from $150 to $300 a share and that the trust company believed the Walker option for $250 a share a desirable transaction.

Davis testified that, as a director of the trust company in 1916, he had sought to find a market for the Granby stock, and after examining financial statements of the Granby company for many years back and making inquiries of

OUR GOLDEN JUBILEE

To Our Friends and Patrons:

Our effort in this sale represents more care in the selection and pricing of merchandise and more anxiety to give better service than in any of the fifty years that we have been faithfully serving the public; therefore, it gives me pleasure to make the following announcement:

I have personally inspected every item for this Golden Jubilee. Every article in this sale has been compared by our expert shoppers with the prices on the same merchandise elsewhere, and I know that every item is offered at the lowest price consistent with good quality merchandise.

During my many years' service with the Nugent Company, I have never issued a public statement in connection with any of our advertisements, but I have personally superintended the preparations for this Golden Jubilee, and am so impressed with the merchandise and values offered that I feel moved to hand my impression on to you, the shopping public of St. Louis.

Very respectfully yours,

F. A. Cramer
President.

LEAGUE LIKELY TO APPROVE LOAN TO HUNGARY

America to Be Asked to Waive Priority Claims—Loan Amount Probably
About $45,000,000.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch from New York World.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The League of Nations Council meets Dec. 1, probably in Paris, and is expected to approve the report of the League's Finance Committee, just completed, for a league loan to Hungary.

The United States will then be asked to waive any priority claims it may have on Hungary, as the other nations will do. League officials hope Washington will do this but if not the American claims will be taken care of out of the loan itself.

The plan worked out by the Finance Committee is similar to the Austrian loan scheme. It provides for league supervision of Hungarian finances, taxation and expenditure, with a permanent league comptroller general at Budapest.

Not to Be Guaranteed.

The proposed loan is considerably less than that made in Austria and will not, as was the Austrian, be guaranteed by the allied governments. However, the Reparation Commission will be asked to waive its lien on Hungary's assets and grant Hungary a moratorium on the loan with all its resources.

It also is likely all the Powers concerned will be asked to guarantee Hungary's policy and economic integrity, as was done in Austria's case.

The Finance Committee has reported only on financial and economic aspects of the problem, but certain political questions will have to be considered. The Little Entente Powers may in the interests of Balkan security demand that Hungary pledge herself not to restore a monarchy.

It is also possible the Little Entente countries, which had to take over part of the Austrian pre-war debt, may object to a moratorium being granted to Hungary unless some concessions are also granted them in respect of their indebtedness.

Loan to Be About $45,000,000.

The correspondent learns the loan to Hungary will be $45,000,000 (about $45,000,000) instead of the $16,000,000 asked. It will be secured by the state customs, revenue, tobacco, match and salt monopolies, and state-owned arable land.

It is being said that, as the allied governments are not backing the loan, Hungary is objecting to the strict league control such as is exercised in Vienna.

3 "RUM AUTOS" BRING $65.50

Local bootleggers are apparently not taking any chances at having high-priced automobiles confiscated as liquor carriers, judging from the prices paid for three "rum cars" auctioned by Federal authorities this week. The total return from the sale of the three "rum cars" amounted to $65.50.

Long inactivity since they were seized by Federal prohibition agents had not improved the machines. The most desirable, a Ford truck, sold for $11. A Ford touring car brought $22. A touring model of doubtful lineage was "knocked down" for $12.50. The prices paid for the machines are said to be fair considering their condition.

King Collins Killed in Auto Crash.

St. Louis acquaintances have been informed of the death in an automobile accident Nov. 21 in Providence, R. I., of King Collins, whose mother formerly was Miss Elizabeth King of St. Louis. Collins was 34 years old and was a bond broker. His father, the late George Lamar Collins, came to St. Louis from Newport and he and Mrs. Collins resided here several years following their marriage. King Collins was unmarried.

Don't let that cough run on

It's much easier to check it now than after serious complications develop. Nothing like Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey to stop coughing quickly. Just those medicines that up-to-date doctors prescribe for loosening heavy phlegm and soothing throat tissues are in it—combined with the old reliable remedy—pine-oil honey. Keep it on hand for all the family.

ON MURDER CHARGEJohn Reynolds, Accused of Shooting Watchman, Denies Doing Any Shooting.Disgruntled because another man had won the post of engineer,
John Reynolds, 4605 Bond avenue, East St. Louis, Alton & Southern Railroad fireman, Wednesday night went in search of his rival with a revolver. Today he is in jail charged with the murder of Frank Grover, 27 years old, 2923
Converse avenue, East St. Louis railroad watchman.According to other railroad men, Reynolds walked into the Alton & Southern switchman's shanty, apparently intoxicated, and called for the man who won promotion. Failing to find him, he drew a revolver and fired a shot at the seniority list posted on the wall striking within half an inch of his rival's name, and left.About 15 minutes later, according to Grover's statement made before he died, he met a man walking down the track near the shanty."What do you want here?" Grover asked."Trouble," the stranger snapped and walked away, but was back a few minutes later."Are you a switchman?" the watchman inquired, and the stranger drew a revolver and fired at him."Do you want any more?" he asked as Grover crumpled to the ground. The watchman was found by an am who heard the shot and taken to St. Mary's Hospital, where he died at midnight. Reynolds was arrested when he reported for work yesterday. He admitted he was drinking the night before, but denied any shooting. The bullet taken from Grover's body and the one in the shanty were both of the same type.MAPLEWOOD NOW WITHOUT ANY SOFT DRINK BARSMinority Commissioner Resigns as Closing of Last Two Is Ordered.Maplewood is without a soft-drink bar today. Last spring before the present administration, headed by Mayor Eugene Burke, came into office, it had nine. The last two were closed Wednesday night by the City Council.Simultaneously with their closing City Commissioner Theodore W.
(Bill) Weber, minority member of the Council, resigned his com-missionership. Action on his resignation was deferred until next week. Weber asserts that Mayor Burke and Commissioner Frank Kasper, the other two members of the Council, are making Maplewood "blue" and running business in so doing.The last two places to feel the effects of the "law and order" ax were Hermann, at Big Bend road and Greenwood boulevard, and the one at Marshall avenue and Manchester road, operated by Victor Calaterra and Joseph Fratelli.
Their licenses for soft drink parlors were revoked and an order issued that the buildings must not be used for one year for such purpose.
This action was based on affidavits by a prohibition agent working under Gas O. Nations to the effect that the places were selling hard liquors. In previous revocations the Council had ordered buildings padlocked. This course resulted in five injunction suits which are pending at Clayton.Meanwhile petitions looking toward a change in the municipal administration are being circulated by Weber and his adherents. The petitioners request a special election at which citizens may vote confidence in the present administration or vote for a city manager and five councilmen to constitute a new form of government.

Former Governor's Blankets Stolen

Stolen in the Post-Dispatch
NEWADA, Mo., Nov. 23.—
Theodore located the clubhouse at Stuart Lake Wednesday night and among the articles taken were the blankets which covered the 10 beds. Two sets of blankets owned by former Gov. Gardner of St.
Louis were among those taken. He was here a few days ago shooting ducks.

EFFECT OF TAX CUT ON RAIL RATES STUDIED

Middle West Opposition to Mellon Plan May Be Modified by Study.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Middle West opposition to the Mellon plan for reduction of taxes was affected today by intimations that reduction of freight rates might be the outcome of acceptance of the tax reform program. The Western group, more interested in freight reductions than in anything else, listened to the unofficial views on this subject while reserving their verdict.

The possibility that freight reductions may be tied up with the proposed tax reduction scheme will be given careful consideration by Republican farm leaders in Senate and House within the next few days. Representative Anderson, Republican, Minnesota, says he is looking into the possibility, while Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, leader of the farm bloc in the Senate, said the possibility of taxes and railroad rates was worthy of consideration, although he was not ready to admit they were inseparable.

At the same time, Senator Capper voiced approval of the Mellon proposal with reservations, although he would not go quite as far as the Secretary in the reduction of surtaxes. Capper admitted he was open to conviction that the surtax rate should be adopted. "I am in favor of the bonus, and believe some way can be found to reduce taxes and pass the bonus measure at the same time," said Capper.

Representative Dickinson, Republican, Iowa, leader of the farm bloc in the House, takes a similar position in favor of tax reduction with the bonus retained, and without a special revenue raising clause attached.

The possibility that railroad rate reductions might follow tax relief came from Treasury officials who had been studying the question, and was favorably regarded by railroad and tax experts generally. It is admitted by these experts that the proposed reductions in taxes would not affect the railroads greatly, as they would apply to the direct taxes paid by them to the Federal Government. The bulk of railroad taxes is paid in State and local taxation, with approximately $13,000,000 paid annually to the Federal Government, as compared with something like $100,000,000 elsewhere by the Class 1 roads.

The beneficial effect which the proposed tax reduction is expected to have on railroad earnings, and consequently upon the fixation of railroad rates in connection with the indirect taxes they pay each year.

This applies especially to high interest rates, lowered value of stocks upon which normal dividends continue to be paid, prices paid for material and other expenditures of the railroads, in all of which the tax burden is reckoned and passed on to the ultimate consumer.

LOONEY HELD IN NEW MEXICO FOR DYER ACT VIOLATION

Former Rock Island Editor Charged With Traffic in Stolen Automobiles.

By the Associated Press.
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 25.—John Looney, under indictment in Rock Island, Ill., on more than a dozen charges ranging from auto theft to murder, will be given a hearing here today before a United States commissioner on a charge of violation of the Dyer act against interstate traffic in stolen automobiles.

Looney, who disappeared from Rock Island in 1921 during an investigation of vice and gambling conditions for which he was alleged to have been responsible, was arrested at Belton, N. M., Wednesday, and was brought to the county jail here last night. He admitted his identity. Looney is said to own a 25,000-acre ranch in Rio Arriba County, New Mexico, to which he was followed by a posse recently. Looney said he did not fear the charges against him, but his political enemies against him in Illinois "would get him if possible."

Looney formerly was editor of the Rock Island News, which has since suspended. A series of eight killings led to the investigation of vice conditions in Rock Island. Looney refused to talk to newspaper men.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and a student of the human body, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but do contain something vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-oil tablets. They cause the bowels to move and act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a full, bloated feeling—dark head—dizziness—constipation, you'll find olive oil and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They take them from every angle and do the right thing. Try them. They will.

DECIDES "CASE UPHILL, AGAINST BETTER JUDGMENT"

"I am deciding this case uphill, against my better judgment," Federal Judge Faris said when he made a ruling Wednesday afternoon which caused the dismissal of Joseph Huelman's damage suit against the Wabash railroad, in which Huelman once obtained an $8500 judgment.

Huelman was injured, and his motor truck was demolished, when a locomotive struck the truck at the Angelica street grade crossing July 28, 1920. A watchman, employed by the railroad at the crossing, had quit work at 6 p. m., shortly before the accident. Huelman said he supposed the watchman was still on duty, though it was shown that 5 o'clock was his regular quitting time. He got the $8500 judgment in the Federal District Court in May, 1922, and last May the Circuit Court of Appeals reversed and remanded the case.

The evidence given for Huelman Wednesday was the same as that in the former hearing of the case, which was before Judge Faris. When the railroad company offered a demurrer, Judge Faris said:

"I am of the same mind, as to the law, as before. I do not think the law is as interpreted by the Court of Appeals in this case. I believe the Court of Appeals decided the case on wrong law and wrong facts. But I am bound by its decision." At Judge Faris' advice, Huelman's lawyer took a non-suit.

2.75 BEER BILL DRAFTED BY CONGRESSMAN DYER

St. Louisman Also to Propose Making Dry Law Convictions Grounds for Deporting Aliens.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Amendment of the Volstead act to legalize manufacture of beverages having an alcoholic content not to exceed 2.75 per cent by weight or 2.44 per cent by volume is proposed in a bill which has been drafted by Representative Dyer of Missouri, a Republican member of the House Judiciary Committee.

The Missouri Representative said today there was abundant proof that beverages with the alcoholic content he proposes are nonintoxicating. He predicted 75 per cent of those who now drink bootleg liquor will be satisfied with beers and wines manufactured under his bill, and would be placed in the mood to join in a demand for more rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Dyer, whose home is in St. Louis, also will introduce a bill making conviction for violation of the Volstead act grounds for deportation of aliens.

REPORT TURKEY WILL CANCEL THE CHESTER CONCESSION

Action Said to Be Due to Failure to Begin Work Before Expiration of the Extended Time.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 30.—Angora messages report that as the extended time limit for beginning work on the Chester concession has expired, Minister of Public Works Ferid Bey informed the Turkish representative of the company that the contract would be canceled.

The representative at once wired to Maj. Clayton-Kennedy, in charge of the work, and urged him to hurry to Angora. The latest news is that Maj. Clayton-Kennedy is en route here, having just arranged in London for a shipment of rails which is on its way to Asia Minor.

ENGINEER DIED BEFORE WRECK

Crew of Florida Train Thus Explains Collision—24 Injured.

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 29.—Members of the crew of the South and L. N. Florida tourist train, which was in a collision with the Southern Railway's Kansas City-Florida special, Wednesday night at Nahant, Ga., believe that John D. Evans of Macon, Ga., engineer on the Southern train, was dead before his train ran into the rear end of the Southland.

This belief, it is reported among railroad men here, is based on the fact that the Southern train ran over torpedoes and past flare signals placed by the crew of the Southland to protect it while making the transfer at the Nahant junction to the Albany-Brunswick line of the Atlantic Coast Line. The Southland, it is said here, was making a detour. Twenty-four other persons are slightly injured as the result of the wreck.

'BUCK PASSED' TO NEW CLEMENCY COMMITTEE

Amnesty Workers Dissatisfied at Prospect of Further Delay in Freeing Prisoners.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 20-22 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Although finding no fault with the committee, consisting of former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord and Bishop Charles H. Brent of the Protestant Episcopal Church, named by President Coolidge to study the cases of "political" prisoners, amnesty workers are disappointed at the failure of the White House to take more prompt and direct action. Exhaustive investigations of the cases have been made and the White House has been repeatedly informed of the lack of legal evidence as well as the injustice of keeping the wartime offenders in jail. Amnesty advocates consequently regard President Coolidge's action as likely to involve more delay as well as a "passing of the buck" on this issue to the committee.
The White House has rather definitely suggested that remaining prisoners might be freed at Christmas, in accordance with customary presidential dispensations at that time. The amnesty leaders wonder if the new committee, even working rapidly, go over the much traveled ground in time to get action from Mr. Coolidge then.
It is felt that Baker, a lawyer and extreme champion of free speech, and Bishop Brent, long actively interested in aiding the prisoners, can be relied on to recommend executive clemency, while Maj. Gen. Harbord, former assistant chief of staff, is believed to be inclined by training to the "court martial" point of view, though neither his conversations, nor record is in the least unfavorable to clemency. In the opinion of the amnesty organization here.
There are 32 cases of "political prisoner" category to be reviewed. The President's committee has been at work two weeks, though the fact was only disclosed Wednesday after a Buffalo dispatch told of a meeting of the committee there. All the data of the Department of Justice, to which the amnesty seekers have been looking for a report to Mr. Coolidge, has been turned over to the committee.

COOLIDGE BEING PRESSED TO ANNOUNCE CANDIDACY

Johnson's Early Entry Into Contest Has Served to Force Preparations for Campaign.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—With the return to Washington of Republican leaders for the opening of Congress, pressure for an early definite announcement by President Coolidge of whether he will seek the presidential nomination in 1936 is being increased. Increased and some of his friends believe he will settle the question soon.
Many of the President's supporters have visited him recently and urged him to make an announcement of his candidacy at an early date.
Announcement of Senator Hiram Johnson's candidacy for the Republican nomination has served to force the preparation of all campaign plans. It is said, sooner than was anticipated, Illinois friends of Mr. Coolidge are preparing for a contest for that State's delegation. George M. Reynolds, prominent Republican leader and banker of Chicago, conferred here Wednesday with President Coolidge. While it was said that Reynolds called merely to "pay his respects," some Republican leaders saw more than a perfunctory significance in the visit.

Dizzy Spells and High Blood Pressure

Dizzy Spells, Headache, Sleeplessness, Pains in the Head and Nervousness Indicate Dangerous Condition.

Norma is the name of a purely vegetable medicine that is in great demand because it does reduce high blood pressure.

Discovered by a leading Buffalo physician and successfully used for years, it has only recently been offered to the public through the better class of druggists.

Thousands have high blood pressure and don't know it, but the symptoms are plain, and any man or woman who has dizzy spells, shortness of breath, hot flashes and does not sleep well probably has it.

High blood pressure is also indicated by nervousness, lack of appetite, a restless and sometimes moody feeling. Such people Norma will help and one bottle will prove it.

Many women in the changing time of life have found it the only remedy that reduces to normal the high pressure and is really helpful.

Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Engraver and Johnson Drug Stores and reliable druggists everywhere sell Norma.

FEDERAL HOME BUILDING RECEIVERS' REPORT APPROVED

Jan. 15 Set by Judge Mix as Limit for Filing Claims Against Corporation.

Circuit Judge Mix today approved the report of the receivers of the Federal Home Building Corporation, a housing promotion which went on the financial rocks last August, and set Jan. 15 as the time limit for the filing of claims against the concern. The report indicated investors would not recover more than 25 cents on the dollar on the $1,122,981 paid in to the company. It was stated in the company approved several recommendations, but took no action to refer the report to the Circuit Attorney. When the report first appeared with him, Judge Mix declared the collapse of the company appeared due to "gross mismanagement" and said he would refer it to the Circuit Attorney for grand jury investigation.

The receivers, A. D. Gates and C. N. Jacobs, were authorized to make whatever settlement was possible with contract holders who desired to go ahead themselves and finish the houses the company failed to build for them. They also were authorized to dispose of building materials on hand and to redeem certain collateral pledged by the company.

Only Clarence Case, attorney for the receivers, was in court when the report was taken up. Attorneys for Christian W. Beck, president, and E. J. Barrett, general manager of the company, were not present.

HELICOPTER IN AIR 5 MINUTES

Argentine Engineer Sets Record in France.

By the Associated Press. LESTY, LES MOULINEAUX, France, Nov. 25.—Marquis Pescara, the Argentine engineer, stayed in the air more than five minutes in his helicopter yesterday, thus establishing a new time record for this type of machine.

He started his flight with the intention of competing for a 10,000 franc prize but did not fly the circular kilometer required by the rules of the contest.

Here's a popular way to serve Kellogg's Bran—greatest health food!

Most every one who realizes how effective Kellogg's Bran is for the permanent relief of constipation has their own particular way of serving this wonderful cereal. Most families eat it as a cereal with milk or cream. Others sprinkle it on their favorite hot or cold cereal. Every one enjoys its nut-like flavor!

If you are cooking a hot cereal try this method:—Measure off two table-spoonfuls for each member of the family. Mix it with the cereal and cook as you always cook the cereal.

Kellogg's Bran is scientifically prepared and ready to eat, but its regulatory powers are in no way impaired if you cook it with other cereals.

Kellogg's Bran has won the friendly recommendation of physicians because it does give prompt and permanent

HEARING ON RIESMEYER ESTATE UNDER WAY

Widow Alleges Assets Were Withheld by Husband's Brother.

A hearing on an order for Gus Riesmeyer Jr., president of the International Bank, to explain the alleged withholding of assets valued at $30,000 to $35,000 from the estate of his brother, Edward H. Riesmeyer, president of the General Advertising Sign Co., who shot and killed himself Feb. 21, was held before Probate Judge Hodgdon at Clayton today.

The citation was issued at the request of counsel for Edward Riesmeyer's widow, Mrs. Frances Spink Riesmeyer. It was decided following her refusal to dismiss a divorce suit against him.

Mrs. Riesmeyer's counsel told Judge Hodgdon today that they would attempt to prove that a conspiracy existed between the brothers to defraud her of possible assets by concealing assets of her husband. Counsel for Gus Riesmeyer Jr. contended that he was his brother's pledgee and therefore, was entitled to take over his assets.

Gus Riesmeyer Jr., testifying, admitted that after his brother shot himself, but before his brother's death, he had indorsed a check for $506 sent to his brother and deposited it to the credit of the G. Riesmeyer Mercantile and Investment Co., in which both were interested, though he did not have permission to do so.

James A. Rector, who was Mrs. Riesmeyer's attorney in the divorce suit, testified she called him to her home Feb. 16 and gave him a revolver with which she said her husband had threatened her. Rector's testimony was stricken out.

RED 'POISON' LABEL ON COVER OF NEW BOOK, 'A SCANDAL'

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, Nov. 30.—The book in greatest demand here has a red label, "Poison," on the cover. It is printed privately and is circulated free to newspaper correspondents, professors, clergymen, politicians and others who are supposed to wield influence. Its title is "A Scandal," and it is made up of extracts from novels by Leon Daudet, the champion of Catholicism, the leader of the royalists and the director of the monarchist organ, L'Action Francaise.

Daudet's enemies have collected in this book the worst, the unmentionable passages in his novels—in which he employs his knowledge as a physician to dissect and lay bare some of the darkest corners of the life of the public opinion against him and perhaps so compel legal action.

The editors of "A Scandal" have inserted a warning to those who receive their production not to lend it about carelessly lest younger folk or those of less solid moral stamina be contaminated.

They entreat their readers to turn the pages after they have perused them to prevent the intoxicating text from sully innocent minds. This exposure of Daudet's works is signed by L'Ouest Eclair, a leading newspaper in the west of France.

Two Safe Robbers Captured.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Ill., Nov. 30.—Two men were captured at Christman yesterday morning by a night watchman after they had robbed the safe in the E. N. Millan Garage and obtained about $21. A large automobile, in which was seated a young woman, was found parked by the roadside a short distance outside the city. She was arrested and brought to Paris by Sheriff Sizemore. The three prisoners refused to reveal their identity, but are supposed to be from Chicago.

New Castle Situation Unchanged.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Further delay in adjustment of the incident at New Castle, England, which resulted in the closing of the American Consulate is anticipated by officials here, despite the optimistic view expressed by Ambassador Harvey just before his return from London. It was said today at the State Department that the New Castle situation remained "unchanged" and it was indicated that no plan for reopening the Consulate was now being considered at the department.

Millionaire Led Communists.
FERDINAND, Bulgaria, Nov. 4.—Katcho Dimoff, millionaire dealer in gasoline and lubricating oils, was the leader of the local communists in their recent vain efforts to overthrow the Tsankoff Government and set up a soviet republic. Asked why he was conspicuous in a movement aimed at the denial of property rights, Dimoff said: "There are other rights to be considered beside my own."

$2000 Heldup Within 30 Feet of Police Station at Peoria.
By the Associated Press.
PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 26.—A messenger for a theater was held up by four men late last night while he was on his way to the police station with the day's receipts, and robbed of $2000. The robbery was committed within 30 feet of the police station.

Japan May Send Thanks by Prince.
By the Associated Press.
TOKYO, Nov. 25.—A proposal has been made that the imperial household department send Prince Kan-In and a warship to America next year, to express Japan's gratitude to the United States for her assistance at the time of the earthquake that nearly destroyed Tokyo and Yokohama, according to the Nichi Nichi. Prince Kan-In is honorary president of the Red Cross Society in Japan. He accompanied the Crown Prince on his trip to Europe in 1921.

Vienna Students Riot Again.
By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, Nov. 26.—The Vienna University authorities made an effort yesterday to reopen the institution, which was closed some days ago because of demonstrations by the Nationalist students. New outbreaks occurred, however, so the rector of the university gave up in despair, and announced that all lectures were suspended indefinitely.

Cold regulator

You cannot regulate the outdoors. When the temperature drops, food freezes — and freezing takes a lot of goodness out of food. The ice-filled refrigerator is the only cold regulator. On hot days and cold days it keeps food always properly chilled.

| A Kiss in the Dark
(from "Orange Blossoms") (de Selva-Herbert) | Arcelia Galli-Curci | 959 $1.50 |
| Kiss Me Again
(from "The Nipper") (Boswell-Herbert) | Arcelia Galli-Curci | |
| Here is the highly unusual combination of two Victor Herbert "waltz-songs," sung in English by no less an artist than this great coloratura mistress of the art of song. | | |
| Letter Song (from "Apple Blossoms") (Falconville-Herbert) | Hugo Kreidler | 956 1.50 |
| I'm in Love (from "Apple Blossoms") | Hugo Kreidler | |
| These two sprightly numbers for the violinello are taken from Fritz Kreidler's music to "Apple Blossoms." Fritz Kreidler himself plays the accompaniments at the piano. | | |

Melodious Instrumental

- | | | |
|---|---|------------------|
| Turkey in the Straw (Falconville-Herbert) | Henry C. Gilliland-A. C. (Eck) Robertson | 19149 .75 |
| Ragtime Annie (Falconville-Herbert) | A. C. (Eck) Robertson | |
| Two old-fashioned dance numbers by genuine cowboy fiddlers. There is genuine American, not hybrid, music. You will find such musicians, today, only in out-of-the-way places. | | |

Light Vocal Selections

- | | | |
|---|-----------------------------------|------------------|
| By the Watermelon Vine | Shannon Quartet | 19142 .75 |
| Louisiana Lou | Shannon Quartet | |
| Many people like these male quartets in "close-harmonized" Southern style. Both sang with beautiful smoothness and harmonic sense, to the full orchestra. | | |
| I'm Sitting Pretty in a Pretty Little City | Albert Campbell-Henry Burr | 19180 .75 |
| Alabama Blacksheep | Peerless Quartet | |
| If you have a liking for sentimental music, in fox trot time, with two tenors, with a big orchestra and heavy piano-work, this disc will captivate you. "Alabama Blacksheep" adds two more singers and does it again. | | |
| You Can't Make a Fool Out of Me | Henry Burr | 19181 .75 |
| Pal of My Dreams | Charles Hart | |
| There are dramatic touches in these two songs of commonplace life for the tenor voice with the orchestra. They are two of the greatest achievements of these artists. | | |

Dance Records

| Sleep—Waltz | Waring's | 19172 .75 |
| The West, a Nest, and You—Waltz | Pennsylvania | |
| First Victor record by the famous touring orchestra grown from a Pennsylvania State College dance quartet. "Sleep" is highly original, with a vocal chorus. "The West, a Nest, and You" is an excellent companion. | | |
| Remember—Fox Trot | Joe Raymond and His Orchestra | 19178 .75 |
| Salt Your Sugar—Fox Trot | His Orchestra | |
| "Remember" is a pleasant fox trot, agreeable to dance to. The Duncan Sisters wrote it—you will hear a reminiscence of childhood play. "Salt Your Sugar" is another excellent fox trot. | | |
| Moonlight Kisses—Fox Trot | Joe Raymond and His Orch. | 19179 .75 |
| Music of Love—Fox Trot | International Novelty Orchestra | |
| These numbers have exceedingly romantic titles, but they are wholesome, jolly numbers, free of overstrained sentiment. "Moonlight Kisses" uses a plaintive type of refrain, but elsewhere it is full of life. "Music of Love" is finely scored. | | |

Pumpkin Pie for Pipers.
(Copyright, 1922.)
LONDON, Nov. 29.—Four hundred and 50 Americans eating their Thanksgiving dinner at the Savoy last night were surprised to see five Highland pipers march in playing wildly. It was not until quite a bit of music had been set loose that it was found the pipers had come a day too soon. They had been engaged for today, St. Andrews Day, a Scotch holiday. So, instead of eating haggis, the pipers had to be content with pumpkin pie.

CONCERN OVER CONGRESS IN THE COOLIDGE CAMP

Even Lodge Sees No Hope
for Passage of Major Measures Because of Lack of "Cohesive Majority."

ACHIEVEMENTS OF SESSION DEPENDED ON

Backers of President Hope Something Will Be Done to Overcome His "Obscure Handicap."

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The prospects of the coming session of Congress developing political fractures instead of legislative enactments is causing more concern to the Republicans devoted to President Coolidge's nomination than any other feature of the Capitol's nonaccomplishment.

Uran Johnson's apparent kidnapping of Illinois and the prospect of his going into Ohio and the likelihood of his winning Indiana from the President have filled the faithful with forebodings.

The waning of the Coolidge boom, which began with Senator Moses' report that there would be opposition to the President on the floor of the convention, the loss of the dream of a first-ballot nomination, and the probability of stopping it before a stage is reached where the nomination of the incumbent for the presidency would seem to be jeopardized is not very encouraging.

It was recognized that President Coolidge was going into the pre-convention activities handicapped by the obscurity that is inevitable for a Vice President with a positive, conspicuous or picturesque life. Who country did not know Mr. Coolidge as well in 1923 as it did in 1919, when, as Governor of Massachusetts, the events of the Boston police strike acquainted the rest of the country with the fact that there was a man named Coolidge in public life.

Congress Depended Upon.
The achievements of the administration during this session of Congress were depended on to make good this lack in the appreciation of the President's qualities and advertise him as any but a dark horse candidate must be advertised before a national convention.

If the coming Congress had been able to pacify the farmer and the cities continued the enhancement of farm prosperity that started with the rise in the price of wheat and the decline of the President. If, in addition, Congress tackled the railroad situation and engineered lower freight rates without breaking the roads, much of the unrest in the Middle West and Northwest that threatened Republican well-being would be done away with.

Then there was the tax reduction plan, depended on, and with reason, to call attention to what the administration was accomplishing in the way of economy and efficiency. With these possibilities and just a little political luck, Mr. Coolidge would have become a positive instead of a negative national character.

Even Lodge Sees No Hope.
But even Senator Lodge, who is not ordinarily a "crepe hanger" at the opening of a Republican Congress, sees no hope of major measures going through because of what he terms the absence of a "cohesive majority."

Instead of the favor-winning legislation that was hoped for, there is nothing in sight for this Congress but a continued struggle between the two factions of the Republican party and unending struggles for committee representation, with their inevitable concomitant of attacks on the administration, all of which is bound to have its reflex on the convention next June.

The President started his incumbency with many enthusiastic partisans in Congress; now even the oldest of the Old Guard are apathetic, thinking more of their own fences than of what might happen at the convention. That is what is happening in the House, apparently, where the minor candidates are working for Johnson because they think that in his energy there is a pulling power that will help them. They don't care one way or the other about his international issue, but they expect from him a roaring campaign, the wind from which will fill their own sails.

Clifford Pinchot's candidacy seems to be dwindling. Some of the Johnson men are now saying that their men will get as many votes as Pinchot.

Gompers Asserts Industry Must Bring Order Into Own House or Order Will Be Thrust Upon It

Declares Much the Same Lesson Learned in Our Political Life Must Be Given Effect in Industrial Life.

This is the fifth of a series of articles on the labor factor in politics, by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in which he deals with the evolution of industry.

By SAMUEL GOMPERS,
President American Federation of Labor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—It has long been the proud boast of American labor that its structure is the most stable, its policies the most constructive and its philosophy the soundest of all labor movements.

If we were to express our desires concerning other labor movements we would say with utmost earnestness that we would like to have them strong, constructive and unified to the utmost extent. But we have always said that the labor movement of each country must build according to its own needs and understanding, and in accordance with the conditions and institutions of its own country.

Students of labor have never had need of hesitation in defining the policies and the philosophy of American labor. It was not by accident that American labor for years insisted upon being judged by its actions and refrained from setting forth a philosophy of action.

But the American Federation of Labor has arrived at the point where it may safely set forth in clear language for all to read a more definite statement of its hopes than has previously been possible or advisable.

Larger Function for Trade Unionism.

I regard the report of the executive council to the convention of the American Federation of Labor which opened in Portland, Ore., Oct. 1, as the most significant and important labor declaration of recent years.

Those who care to know the trend of great movements in society will discuss this pronouncement for years to come. I shall take the liberty to quote here extracts from that report.

What we have observed is that the period ending with the beginning of the World War found political democracy in its fullest state of development, while the close of that period of overwhelming upheaval marked the opening of the period of intelligent demand and living need for industrial democracy. The close of the war marked for us a turning point in human relations, and threw forth in bold relief the inadequacy of existing forms and institutions. Henceforth trade unionism has a larger message and a larger function in society.

Henceforth the movement for the organization of the workers into trade unions has a deeper meaning than the mere organization of groups for the advancement of group interests, however vital that function may yet remain.

For the future industry must become something of which we possess a national consciousness. It must cease to be a disconnected collection of groups, like states without a union. The future demands an American nation in which shall be possible for all to give of their best through the orderly processes of democratic representation.

Fact Must Take Place of Opinion.

The functional elements in our national life must fit themselves to work out their own problems, eradicate their abuses and furnish America with an ever-increasing flood of commodities, both necessary and pleasure-giving. Industry alone has the competence, and it must demonstrate that competence, through organization. The organized functional elements in industry will find easy solution those problems to which the politicians now turn their attention in futility. Industry must organize to govern itself, to impose upon itself tasks and rules, and to bring order into its own house. Industry must bring order to itself constructively, or it will have an order thrust upon it which would be demoralizing if not fatal.

Much the same lessons that we have learned in our political life—among them the sense of order—must be learned and given effect in our industrial life. Fact must take the place of opinion and selfish interest.

It seems to me obvious that American labor has contributed to the industrial life a development of transcendent importance. It should be pointed out that American labor progresses entirely on evolutionary lines, and the declaration made by the executive council at the Portland convention

WHAT LLOYD GEORGE SAID ABOUT THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA WHEN HE GOT BACK TO ENGLAND

"Unarmed Frontier Shows America to Be Country Where They Allow Neighborhood to Dominate Relations, Instead of Suspicion and Revenge."

Former Prime Minister Lloyd George's description of his visit to the United States and Canada, delivered in a speech at Southampton, England, on his landing there from his tour on Nov. 9, is given in the following reprint from the London Daily Telegraph's verbatim report of his address:

"I have come from a flying visit to the great continent of America, and I should not be human if I were not gratified with the warmth and kindness of the reception accorded to me in every part I visited. Like every public man, I have had my ups and downs. (Laughter.) I have seen many great crowds in my time, not all of them friendly. In fact, one of the greatest crowds that ever came to meet me came with a hostile intent. I know something of crowds, but I do not know that I have ever witnessed such gigantic crowds, and what pleased me most was the crowds which came to the little wayside stations on the route where there was no opportunity, thank God, for making speeches. They came there to give me a kindly welcome in passing through. It is a marvelous land. I went to Canada, I went to parts of the United States of America to deliver. I think, about six, and at the outside eight, speeches. I think it was nearer 30. (Laughter.) I think it is the first time I had experience of this mechanism (pointing to the wireless apparatus). At first I found it very difficult to handle. At Montreal, where I first had the pleasure of being introduced to it, I found when I got quite near to it that it got impatient and started answering me back, so that afterwards I kept it at a respectful distance.

"I also had the experience of another machine—I do not think you have here—but this I think is a revolution in public speaking. I think it is called radio, or broadcasting, and there I had quite a remarkable experience. I delivered a speech at Chicago and I got a telegram from a great number of people from Texas saying:

"Listened to your speech last night—that is about 1200 or 1500 miles away. At New York, where I delivered my last speech before leaving, I received a telegram in my room from the Atlantic coast saying that the company which is organizing all the broadcasting and saying, 'We have had reports from all parts, and we find that the radio is a great thing. You will deliver your speech and take a puff at your cigar at the time when you think applause should come. (Laughter.) There are many very great developments in front of us.

Canada Grows Apace in Population and Loyalty

"I visited parts of Canada. I was in Canada 24 years ago and I found most wonderful changes in that vast Dominion—the premier Dominion of the Crown. In one respect, however, there was no change of opinion. The people were as loyal to the empire and to the Crown as they were 24 years ago, and I found that the loyalty of Canada and her sons was a factor in the life of the empire, perhaps more intense, than it is in the old land. In crossing this gigantic country, with its infinite resources, it was a source of pride to see everywhere this flag floating over the public buildings. It is a country of incalculable resources. When you consider the area of cultivable land, the great Dominion—nearly 4 million square miles—when you consider these vast forests, the great waterways; when you consider the power which can be developed there, the mineral deposits, the oil, the gas, the variety; when you consider also the climate—it is indeed a country of incalculable treasure. Why do I mention the climate? It is one of the assets of the Dominion—nearly, bracing, invigorating—a climate that makes men, a climate that compels them to live, a climate that is not a climate for idlers or weaklings, but a climate that represents industry in abundance. At the present moment it has a population of 26 million and eight millions, and there are many who are here today, and many who will be here tomorrow, who will see that vast Dominion with a population exceeding that of the United Kingdom and leaping up at an accelerated rate. It is a source of pride and confidence in the future of the British empire that you feel as it grows in wealth and power, as it

The Unarmed Frontier
Between U. S. and Canada

"There were days when neighbors were armed against each other here in England. In Hampshire, probably in Southampton, there were days when armed men guarded the gates with the portcullis drawn up, when questions were asked whether the neighbor came with good or evil intent. But Hampshire now, it is not armed against its neighbor; Southampton does not arm against Portsmouth, nor even against Liverpool, although they have their work cut out for them. And here you have these two great countries, the only countries on earth of whom that can be said, the British empire and the United States of America, alike thousands of miles of frontier facing each other without an armed man to protect the line. It is not that there has not been trouble in the past. The Canadians showed me with some pride a place where there had been a battle between them and the Americans. I need hardly tell you they would not have shown it to me if it had not happened that they gave the Americans a very good thrashing. I have no doubt at all that the Americans could have shown me other places where the event was a little different. But those are old feuds, centuries old. There have not been battles since. The two nations have kept alive. They now trade with each other, do business with each other, interchange courtesies with each other, but each of them standing by his own flag, the American by the Stars and Stripes, the Canadian by the Union Jack, the American ready to die for his Stars and Stripes, and the Canadian ready to die for his Union Jack. The Great War—radio to the Stars and Stripes. Tens of thousands of them laid down their lives. It is a marvelous frontier, a marvelous object lesson. It shows what nations can do when they are in low good feeling, neighborliness and common sense to dominate their relations, instead of anger, suspicion, jealousy, hatred, revenge (cheers). That is what the British empire and the United States of America are teaching the world by an object lesson of thousands of miles which anybody can see.

"I will tell you another thing that struck me. Here are the two greatest commonwealths on earth without exception in resources, wealth and possibilities. The United States

Foreign Office Spokesman Describes Proposed Plan to Extend 3-Mile Limit as "50-50 Bargain."

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 30.—Before the British-American treaty designed to curb illicit liquor traffic in American territorial waters is concluded, the Foreign Office desires to obtain from Secretary Hughes more definite assurances that the Supreme Court will not overrule the right of British ships to take liquor stores inland for American ports under seal when intended for use on the homeward voyage. This is the reciprocal right Great Britain would enjoy for permitting the American authorities to seize British smugglers outside the three-mile limit.

The British Government is concerned lest, after the treaty is enacted into law, the Supreme Court might on a test case reaffirm the ruling of April 20 last, declaring that under the Volstead Act no liquor, whether foreign or domestic, may be brought within the territorial waters of the United States. This would strike a heavy blow to British trans-Atlantic liners, which like the vessels of the United States lines, would be forced to run dry.

Only Remaining Obstacle.
In response to inquiries from Foreign Secretary Curzon whether the proposed treaty would be constitutionally binding upon the Supreme Court, Secretary Hughes replied that he believed it would be in no danger of invalidation by the court, but he advanced the specific facts or arguments in support of this opinion. This is the only remaining obstacle to completion of the treaty and Lord Curzon, within a few or three days will seek further elucidation on it from Washington.

One of the officials of the Foreign Office today described the proposed arrangement as a "fifty-fifty bargain." He pointed out that England, which has always jealously guarded the three-mile limit as the foundation of its maritime and international maritime law, would be reluctant to grant the special extension of it sought by Secretary Hughes if the American Supreme Court was likely to nullify that part of the bargain favoring the British.

Secretary of State Hughes has returned the British Government's outline of the treaty with the State Department's comments and suggestions thereon, and it is expected the convention in its final form will soon be concluded so that it can be submitted to Congress at an early date.

Secretary Hughes found no substantial objection to the fundamental points of the treaty as formulated by Foreign Secretary Curzon, and he was able to reassure the British Government on certain constitutional features of the treaty which it had been thought by the latter might not be in strict accord with existing American law and practices.

Would Speed the Treaty.
While Secretary Hughes has not formally requested the Foreign Office to expedite conclusion of the treaty, he is understood to desire as British officials, that it shall be completed with the least possible delay so as to prevent unpleasant incidents arising out of such seizures of vessels as in the recent case of the Italian liner and the Tomoka which have caused both Governments some embarrassment.

It now appears that the Tomoka was registered at Nassau in the Bahamas, and owned by a company with headquarters in Canada, delay in taking up his initiative, but it has been acted upon. They are now working together. It is vital to the interests of the world that having started, we should go on. The United States of America and ourselves resolutely to an without flinching, without turning to the right or to the left, so on what ever or whoever is in the way, because, with these two great Powers working together for right, nothing can resist them. If they work for wrong, justice or oppression the Power that makes for righteousness would smash them in the end, but, working as they are for civilization, for peace, for good-will, for human progress, their power is irresistible, and I trust they will go on to the end (loud cheers).

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Worker's Complaint.

Two months ago the flat in which I am living changed hands. Thereupon the families therein (it is one of those multi-family affairs) were promptly notified of a $5 increase in rent, effective Sept. 1.

On the 13th of the month I returned to work after a two weeks' lay-off because of inventory, and upon beginning my morning duties was politely informed that the piecework price for the work done by me will henceforth be 25 per cent lower; in other words, a reduction in wages of something appreciably more than 12 a day for 10 and 11 hours of labor.

Considering the rent raise, the rise in price of pork and the continued high price of things we purchase to wear, together with the wage reduction, I am tempted to wonder if all the holdups and other crimes may be attributed solely to bad whiskey and loose morals.

Complaint to the boss elicits this reply: "Well, if you don't like it, quit. If you do quit, what chance have you to compete against such labor as certain employers bring in from the rural districts? I say rural districts, because it is common gossip about the shop that these employers, no matter how the local press for 'Help Wanted' advertisements. They advertise in the small papers within a radius of 100 miles of St. Louis and defray the moving expenses of the hired farmer because they know the man from the rig, or left. I have often seen men and women walk for blocks and cross six or eight crossings without looking on either side of them."

Supposing a motorist should drive six or eight blocks without looking at anything but the cap on his radiator! What would happen?

I believe everyone who takes a vehicle out on the street should become familiar with the responsibility placed upon them by doing so, and either drive accordingly, or their license should be revoked, but why should the driver have to furnish eyes for everyone? They must judge their distance and know when to stop. Why shouldn't the pedestrian have to do the same (children excepted)? The police should have the authority to arrest and prosecute anyone for careless walking as well as careless driving, and that parents should be forced to punish children for carelessness on the street or pay a fine. W. H. JONES.

An Ex-Conductor's Advice.

I have heard many complaints in regard to street car service in St. Louis, so I wish to write a few lines on that subject. I have served three years as a conductor for the U. R., but am not employed by the U. R. now. Now, first, you often notice that whenever a car is late the people all want to board the first car, thereby holding that car and also holding the other cars following. People seem to think they will reach their destination sooner by getting on the first car, even if the car is late, but they do not.

Now I wish to state my idea of how to have a real street car service in St. Louis, but we cannot have it at once. First, let the U. R. build more cars, and then let the city pass an ordinance not to allow any more passengers to board a car after seats are all occupied, or at least not allow any more than about six or eight to stand, which would give passengers plenty of room to get to the front door when they reach their destination. Then the motorman wouldn't have to stop and wait until they pushed their way through the crowd, which causes lost time; also the rear end of car and steps would not be crowded, so the people could board the car quicker, thereby gaining time.

It will cost a lot to build new cars, but there will be less accidents, such as collisions, boarding and leaving the cars, which will save a lot of money, so that system would also be practicing safety first, because the motorman would have his car under better control, for he would not have to run at breakneck speed trying to make up time, which causes accidents.

So to have a better street car system we must have more cars and then use a little judgment not to all try to get on one car. I would like to see how many are with me on that idea. After St. Louis got that far, I don't think they could have any better street car service anywhere.

A READER.

WIPE OUT TUBERCULOSIS.

The recent report that the death rate from tuberculosis in St. Louis has been reduced 50 per cent in the short space of six years is so encouraging that it should inspire those who have been fighting the disease with the determination to make its complete elimination their goal. The success of next year's work along this line will depend largely on the sale of the Christmas stamps, which sale begins tomorrow.

That the fight may be continued intelligently in the future, a review of the work of the various agencies that have fought this good fight is necessary. In the front rank of these agencies is the Tuberculosis Society of St. Louis, which has been on active duty for over 13 years, beginning its work in 1904. At that time St. Louis had the highest death rate from tuberculosis of the 10 largest American cities. It is gratifying to know that while the death rate everywhere has been reduced since then, the reduction in St. Louis is greater in proportion than in other large population centers. What has been done to bring this about? The Tuberculosis Society has had the voluntary services of leading citizens; it has conducted an extensive campaign of education, distributing scores of thousands of health leaflets; physicians connected with the society, and others interested, have made a great many public health talks, in factories, clubs and schools; valuable articles by well-known doctors on the prevention of tuberculosis have been published in the press; the society has sent a traveling exhibit car into all parts of the city, to help in this work of education. Relief work has included an open-air camp, open-air school, free clinics, visiting nurses and health supervisors in homes; placing of sufferers in positions suitable to their condition, enabling them to help themselves; a successful campaign for the improvement of Koch Hospital, and a follow-up system to insure that those benefited or cured shall not again fall victims.

All this has meant an incalculable amount of self-sacrificing labor on the part of the men and women who have supported the society. Thousands of women have taken part in the annual Christmas seal sales, from which most of the necessary funds have been obtained. The city has aided in the society's crusade through its Health Department, but we have had the unfortunate condition of the city failing to find the means to pay three nurses, the Tuberculosis Society having had to assume this burden. It would seem that the administration could at least do this much, when citizens are doing so much more, in this long and now winning fight.

The Tuberculosis Society is not to share in the Community Fund, though it is on the fund's advisory board. It will be necessary, therefore, for citizens to continue to contribute, buy the Christmas stamps and volunteer in every way such work as will aid the fight against suffering and death and carry it on even more vigorously, if we are not to stand still or fall back. Everyone, even persons of small means, can buy the Christmas stamps. Use them on your mail and on all Christmas packages. If this is done, the slogan of Health Week, "Let's Live a Little Longer," will be full of meaning to all in St. Louis who are suffering or are threatened with tuberculosis. It should mean that the death rate will be decreased year by year until this dread disease is banished.

HIRAM JOHNSON'S MANAGER.

Hiram Johnson's heroic effort to rescue the Republican party, and incidentally the American Government, from the dark forces of materialism by which they are being strangled goes resolutely on. Along with Leythian Lasker as publicity man, and Wrigley of chewing gum celebrity supplying the snafus, the announcement is now made that Frank Hitchcock, renowned collector of dusky delegates, has been added to the Johnsonian staff as general manager. Doubt will doubtless be entertained here and there as to how Mr. Hitchcock will fit into Hiram's idealistic bloc. Heretofore Mr. Hitchcock has been affiliated with the pragmatists. His voice has never been heard in the swelling chorus of "It's always fair weather when Utopians get together." He has trod the concrete ways of millionaires rather than the rose-strewn paths of doctrinaires. Were a congenial reactionary reckless enough to fling his hat into the ring Mr. Hitchcock would be the logical and predestined manager of such a candidate's forlorn, if noble, adventure. But as commissar-in-chief for Hiram Johnson, champion of the downtrodden—well, Mr. Hitchcock is playing a new role.

"Hiram as champion of the downtrodden! Where do you get that stuff?" a cynic may exclaim. We get it from Hiram. But it is hard to take, and getting harder right along.

A VICTORY FOR THE PUBLIC.

The city is to be congratulated on the decision of the special committee of the Board of Aldermen to adhere to the original plan of locating the new Courthouse on the City Hall Plaza. The pressure on the board and its committee to choose the Fourth street site must have been powerful. Property interests of great magnitude were deemed to be involved, though it is a debatable point whether such property interests would have been served by the downtown location. An attorney was retained to represent the Fourth street group and, in keeping with the best traditions of his profession, spared no effort to win his case.

The public side was represented by the City Plan Commission, backed by several civic organizations. One of the determining factors was a poll of attorneys in which a majority declared for the plaza site. The private interest affected, however, was persistent and secured delay when an adverse decision was apparent. It has had every opportunity to make a case and cannot complain that it was not fully and considerably heard. The aldermanic committee deserves the thanks of the community for its loyalty to the public interest.

Those rum runners need seven-league bootleggers to get away from the revenue cutters.

PUNISH RECKLESS DRIVERS.

Recommending severe penalties for reckless vehicle drivers, the grand jury's report says: "All motor cars are dangerous in the hands of reckless drivers, but there comes with the ownership of the small car, and especially of the small delivery truck, a special brand of nerve and manners. These drivers in time will have intimidated the entire community, both pedestrians and vehicle drivers." The report adds that the larger number of accidents is due to the reckless driving of these machines, and that the chief problem is not of a certain speed limit but of locating and punishing such drivers.

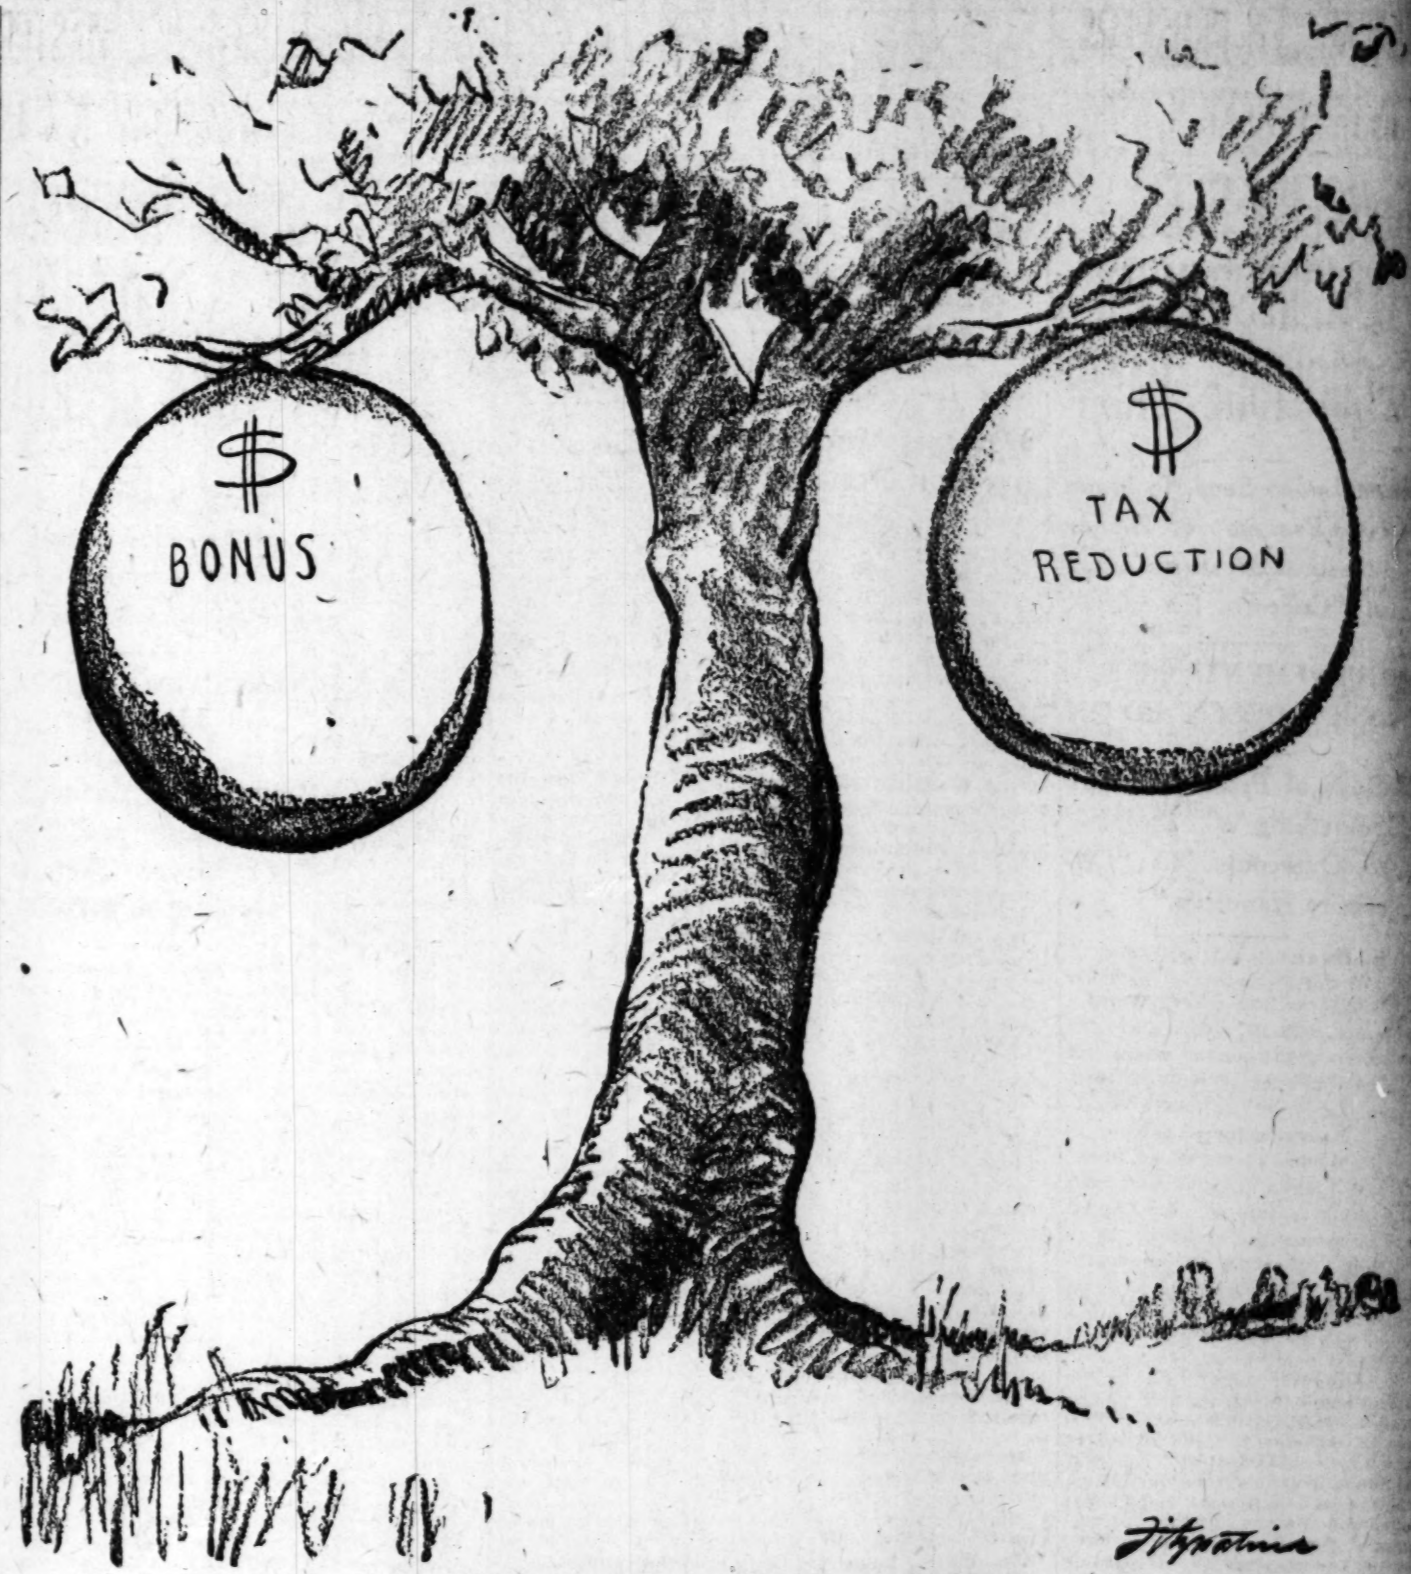

A similar condition appears to exist in New York. Chairman Frank A. Cunningham of the Aldermanic Committee on Traffic Regulations in that city recently remarked: "During the past week I have personally witnessed the most reckless driving by chauffeurs of trucks and omnibuses. They have dashed past small cars or smashed into them if they failed to get out of the way quickly enough." The speed limit in New York is 13 miles an hour. Drivers of the kind described are rather tempted to "tread on the gas" by a low speed limit, but the conditions everywhere seem to prove that the limit prescribed is not of such importance as the penalizing of drivers who are convicted of recklessness. Careful driving is safe driving at ordinary speeds.

Punish all reckless drivers, whether of expensive passenger cars, trucks, busses, or "flivvers." Let no one escape. That is the only way to make the streets reasonably safe.

Those 6,000,000,000 marks in stamps on a German letter must have felt small in company with Uncle Sam's postmark, which is really worth something.

Saying to co-operation

Always absolutely
"No!"

This in time,
My little girlie,

Thanks to Hiram
And the rest,

Each by this
For service rendered

Fairly popping

Dr. Paton of Princeton says the importance of football has been magnified until it menaces mental progress. Of course it does; but does the Doctor know anything in this amazing era that doesn't? We are on our way to another of those excruciatingly physical which gave Rome the gladiatorial combats and the baths of Caracalla. It is the inevitable consequence of a wholly material civilization, and we can no more hope to escape it than Rome did. The tendency Dr. Paton deprecates is what there is at last for a people whose values are as unscientific as ours are, whose god is money and who know no power but that of wealth. Before we get down we will laugh to think of the old-fogeyism that sought to improve the mind, as if anyone with an improved mind knew what to do with it. If he has thought of the significance of Boy's Life, Acres, the marriage of the drama and the circus and those barren hybrids which are their offspring, and knows history as well as we assume he does, he does not have to be told that we cannot more help what is coming than a thistle can help its failure to produce figs. If we are not altogether informed of what happened throughout the half million years which archeology says we have lived, we still know that certain causes have always operated upon human nature with certain, well-known effects. We would like to have him tell us what he thinks the situation which he laments will have become in another hundred years.

TESTIMONIAL TO A MISSOURI EDITOR.

Charley Blanton, of the Sikeston Standard, must be in failing health. He hasn't broken out in a new spot for several weeks now, and his old rag in its editorial columns reads like the Christian Advocate for tameness of expression, but they say the deathlike stillness is generally before the storm, and we will not be surprised to see him not only shut out of the bull's-eye, but blow up the hole all around it at any moment. Blanton would rather carry a dirty coat that needs carrying than to court the favor of a prince by fawning, and we kinda like his outbursts.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

SETTLED OUT OF COURT.

From the New York Times.

A PUBLIC attitude with the long-drawn-out and scandalous details of the Stokes divorce case has reason to be thankful that the Stokes separation suit was settled out of court. This is not to say that there was no form of court intervention. The Judge before whom the trial was to have come gave a great deal of time and labor to the consultations which finally brought about an agreement between the parties directly concerned. It is a fine precedent which in this way has been set by Mr. Justice Waserberg. No obligation, expressed or implied, lay upon him to seek an adjustment of the controversy. But he took with him into conferences with counsel so high a reputation as a judge, and such persuasive powers, that he was able to do much both to save this country from the expense of the trial and to prevent further unpleasant revelations on top of those which had already wearied and disgusted the public. It is devoutly to be wished that other judges may follow his example in cases of domestic relations, where it is possible to compose disputes, or at least effect reasonable compromises, while avoiding the washing of a great deal of dirty linen in public.

SOVIET JOURNALISTS.

THE new soviet journalist is, for the most part, recruited from the ranks of the workers and peasants. Outside of a few special newspapers which appeal to a rather limited audience of specialists, the press in soviet Russia is becoming a tribune of labor. In the industrial centers the newspapers have full staffs of workers' correspondents who are writing of the life and sentiments of the shops and factories. These correspondents are not outsiders in the factory. They live and work there. In the rural centers the newspapers establish their contact with the villages through the peasant correspondents. The press is striving to become not only a press for the masses but also by the masses, to be intimately associated with them. It is in fact becoming a weapon in the hands of the new labor democracy which is being forged in the soviet republic. Russia is now in a period of reconstruction in which all the forces of labor must be taxed. In this work the press plays a considerable part as an organizing and controlling factor. The journalist, both the professional and the workers' correspondent, enters the fabric of state construction as a component part performing a definite function.

FROGS' LEGS AND THE TARIFF.

From the Detroit News.

THE Treasury Department has been asked what frogs' legs are. Some say they are game; the department once ruled them poultry, but after further consideration decided to call them unmanufactured articles not specifically provided for, and then changed its mind again and called them articles manufactured wholly or in part. If the officials will only consider his matter in the proper light, they will see that frogs' legs from Canada come under the same category as snails from France. And French snails are game when they are hunted in the garden, poultry when they are reared by hand, unmanufactured articles when they are shipped raw, articles manufactured wholly or in part when they are cooked and stoppered with garlic and parsley.

MACMILLEN PROSPERS IN GOLDMARK'S WORLD

Violinist Wins Ovation—Agate Orchestra Rears Glories of "Scheherazade."

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
A Francis Macmillen, a New York violinist, won a most unusual ovation at the Agate Orchestra's concert at the Orlean, and notes began fairly to fly like sparks from his bow, the audience could restrain its applause no longer, but broke into the conclusion measures with applause. It was no civil patter of handclapping, but a spontaneous explosion of enthusiasm over an exploit of virtuosity.

Mr. Macmillen's enviable success, which even bettered the expression he made last season in the city, was one feature of a charming program. Mr. Gerson, the yet present conductor, led the orchestra to "Rosamunde" and Rimsky-Korsakov's "Till Eulenspiegel," the symphonic suite, "Scheherazade."

The violinist deserved credit on two grounds for undertaking the Goldmark concerto, which he studied with the composer, himself. The work is rarely played, and in style, less ostentatious than that of the Tchaikowsky concerto, for instance, renders a public triumph less facile. Yet the soloist succeeded in proving to general satisfaction that Goldmark had created a work not only technically difficult, but brilliant, melodious and inspired.

A Patriotic Style.
Mr. Macmillen, an American pupil, associated with that school; instead, his playing has refinement and aristocracy. His technical equipment is startling; he possesses the finest speed and the most sure intonation every swiftly whirling atom sound has its perfect form, its confident touch of accent.

One admired most, however, the eloquent finesse in the articulation of melody, in the concert second movement. Like an expectant actor, he moulded each musical sentence with contrasting inflection of phrasing with delicacy of cadence. To utter a melody thus to be keenly sensitive to its feeling.

After several recalls to the platform, demanded with determination by the audience, the soloist played Wieniawski's glittering Polka in D Major, to Mrs. David Kriehaber's able accompaniment at the piano.

The overture to "Rosamunde" also played infrequently; it lay in a heap of neglected manuscripts until it was unearthed almost 40 years after Schubert's death. It is a lovely melody, with a delicate tenderness by its orchestra.

The Ardors of "Scheherazade." "Scheherazade" is too familiar here for detailed description, for it is one of the most popular works in the organization's repertoire. Once more we heard that stupendous sea-theme, the most descriptive ever written, which seems to compress within a few measures the surge and wash of the ocean, the wheedling flatteries of the Sultana, the wild, rhythmic music of oriental fete, the romance of the Young Prince and the Young Princess, and the crash of Sinbad's ship against the magnetic rock.

Mr. Ganz directed the suite with mature taste; there was power with every stroke, drama that at highest tension still had continuity. The work scatters solo passages throughout the orchestra, and the soloist played in a manner to dispel the individual most potent work of the orchestra. The frequent violin episodes were of course lightly done; but there was a mirable solo playing for oboe, flute, clarinet and horn. As for that soloist, Mr. Quirkoff's frequent violin episodes were of course lightly done; but there was a mirable solo playing for oboe, flute, clarinet and horn. As for that soloist, Mr. Quirkoff's frequent violin episodes were of course lightly done; but there was a mirable solo playing for oboe, flute, clarinet and horn.

IN HONOR OF ACTOR JEFFERS

Elks to Attend Performance.
"Lightnin'" in Body.
St. Louis Elks will attend a Monday night's performance of "Lightnin'" at the American Theater, and will occupy a special section of seats in honor of their townsmen. The Elks' officers and members will be present in large numbers. The engagement of "Lightnin'" has been extended through a week, and the closing performance will be given on Saturday night, Dec. 8, at 8 o'clock. The performance of "Lightnin'" at St. Louis is a little more than a year, establishing a new record. It is believed. Last season, engagement, which lasted 12 weeks, began Nov. 12, 1922.

WILL FILE SUIT TO REVOKE MEDICAL SCHOOL CHARTERS

Attorney-General to Act on Charges Against Institution in St. Louis and Two in Kansas City.

DECISION FOLLOWS
STUDYING OF SURVEY

"Frightful Conditions" Disclosed by Report, Say Members of State Board of Health.

Suits to revoke the charters of three class C medical schools, one in St. Louis and two in Kansas City, will be filed soon, Attorney-General Barrett announced today, as a result of charges made by the State Board of Health in a report on Missouri medical schools, submitted to him.

The schools involved are the St.
Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Kansas City University of Physicians and Surgeons, and the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery.

"If even half of the board's allegations can be proved, the schools ought to be put out of business," the Attorney-General said. "By filing quo warranto proceedings, asking the forfeiture of corporate charters, both the Board of Health and the defendants will have an early opportunity to place their evidence before the court."

Report Based on Survey

The report is based on a survey made in the last three weeks by the board, with the assistance of
Dr. F. C. Waite of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, who was invited to come here following reports that fraudulent diplomas and high school credits were being sold to medical students and others.

After studying the survey, members of the board said "frightful conditions" had been encountered in the three class C schools. "Of the three schools, particularly as to laxity of administration, general lack of equipment and loose methods in admittance of students in advanced classes."

To Consider Complaints.

The annual meeting of the State Board of Health will be held at Jefferson City, Jan. 8, to elect officers and consider any complaints that may be made against physicians, chiropractors and midwives, or anyone else who has been trading the sick without a license to practice medicine. In case any such charge is made against a physician, he will be given not less than 30 days to answer before trial by the board.

The survey report states that the records in the three class C colleges of Missouri are so incomplete and carelessly kept that no gradu-

Woman Teacher for 50 Years to Have Jubilee

Mrs. Sarah E. Dillon, Principal of Benton School, Proudest of Work She Has Done for 'Bad' Boys.

Mrs. Sarah E. Dillon, 58 years a public school teacher, and principal of Benton School, now at King's highway and St. Louis avenue, ever since it was established in 1892, is proudest of the work she has done for "bad" boys.

"They have sent me lots of boys from other schools," Mrs. Dillon said today, "boys that they couldn't handle. Nine-tenths of them have got along all right here, and have gone through with good standing."

Mrs. Dillon's golden jubilee is to be observed tonight with a neighborhood celebration at King's highway Christian Church, corner of Labadie avenue. Former pupils, including some of the "bad boys" of bygone years, are to attend with their families, not a few having children who are now pupils of the Benton and other schools.

Ask the white-haired principal her age, and she responds, in an old Irish phrase, "Again as much as half." She began teaching in October, 1873, in Ames School, but went soon thereafter to Irving School, where she stayed 19 years, Benton School, when she took it, was in an old mansion on Natural Bridge avenue west of Union boulevard. The mansion burned after construction of the present one would be able in future to ascertain what his standing had been in the event his professional activities demanded such information.

The report shows further that it was not the policy of these schools to investigate thoroughly the claims of students as to their credits for entry, and consequently "many students entered who would not have been accepted by a reputable school or one making a serious endeavor to comply with the law or the demands of public welfare."

Other conditions in these schools do not measure up to reputable standards, the report states. In one of the Kansas City schools the board found a bulletin on the students' board advising them to solicit their own obstetrical cases, which is in violation of the law, according to Dr. Emmett P. North, president of the board.

House-to-House Police Canvas for Unauthorised "Doctors."

A house-to-house canvas to record every individual in St. Louis who treats the sick, will be undertaken Monday, according to an announcement today by President Brockman of the Police Board. The canvassers will be beat patrolmen.
The information, when gathered and tabulated, will be turned over to Health Commissioner Starkloff, as registrar for the Missouri State Board of Health, which has undertaken a statewide canvass to deter-

MAN SHOT; DIVORCED WIFE ADMITS SHOOTING

Woman Says She Fired Through Ceiling When He Climbed to Roof of Home.

When Conrad Glatt, 35, of 4007
South Broadway, a chauffeur, was taken from his mother's home, 2115 South Broadway, at 3 o'clock this morning, with a bullet in his breast, the explanation he made was not convincing.

He said he was at home in bed at 11:30 p. m. when he heard a noise in the yard and discovered a man stealing a spare tire from his automobile. He dressed and went down. The man was driving away with the tire in another machine.
Glatt said he pursued the car to Jefferson and Russell avenues and overtaken the thief, and said to him: "Say, fellow, you've got my tire there."

The thief said yes, that was so, and handed it over and Glatt was replacing it on his car when the man shot him. He drove to his mother's home and his brother, Philip, living next door, asked the police to send an ambulance.

Capt. Kirk called Glatt's brother and questioned them. He learned that Glatt was divorced two years ago from his first wife, Dorothy, and married Clara Stahl of Pine Lawn and two weeks ago, after being divorced from his second wife, he remarried the first.

The Captain was preparing to go to Pine Lawn when Clara called up and said she had heard the police were looking for her and they would find her at home, for she had shot Glatt. The Captain found her at 4201 Oakwood avenue. She said Glatt had been annoying her, damaging her property and threatening her. Early this morning he appeared at the house and climbed to the roof. She fired through the ceiling and he jumped down and ran. She fired at him again.

At the hospital Glatt denied that she had shot him, but she insisted her story was true.

INDICTED ON PERJURY CHARGE
FOLLOWING THREE MURDERS

Sam Ritter, Former Inn Owner, Held as Result of Testimony in Murder Cases.
Sam Ritter, 27 years old, of 1013

North King's highway, was arrested yesterday on a charge of perjury, following an indictment returned last Friday by the county grand jury at Clayton.
Ritter was owner of the Plantation Inn, at the north side of the street car loop at the old Suburban Garden, when Ike Young, a negro cabaret singer, was killed there several months ago, and was working there as a bartender when Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur R. Grant were shot to death there last October. Wilbur Stalnaker, who was with the Grants at the time, and who was wounded in the shooting, died recently from his wounds.

The perjury indictments were the result of Ritter's testimony concerning the Young and Grant killings. Ritter was released on bond.

FINDS BABY ON DOORSTEP

East St. Louis Woman to Care for Child Until Home Can Be Found.
When Mrs. M. Alice Boaz, 542
Washington place, East St. Louis, opened her front door today to get the morning's milk, she almost fell over a market basket apparently containing a woolen blanket.

Lifting a corner of the blanket she found a baby boy, about three or four weeks old, baby asleep with an empty milk bottle in his hands.
The infant was warmly dressed, but its garments revealed nothing to establish its identity.

Mrs. Boaz took it into her home and notified the police. She will care for the child until the Humane Society can find a home for it.

Called Klansman: Sues for $100,000

Suit for $100,000 damages was filed late Wednesday in the United States District Court by Edward F.
Todd, president of the Shryock-Todd Nations Co., against the American Unity Publishing Co., Chicago, publishers of the anti-Klan paper Tolerance. Todd alleges his name was published in the periodical to show that he is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, Nov. 25. He denies membership and declares the publication of his name as such has done him great harm. His wife, and children, he asserts, are members of the Catholic Church.

DRIVE BY COMMUNITY FUND TOMORROW

Final Preparations Will Be Made at Meeting This Evening.

Approximately 1000 persons, the largest gathering in the history of the city in charitable and philanthropic endeavor, are expected to be present at Hotel Statler tonight when final preparations will be made for the start of the 1924 campaign of the Community Fund, to raise $1,495,837 for 51 welfare organizations federating their appeals in the Fund.

This meeting is primarily for division chairmen, team captains and workers in the Individual Subscribers Division of which A. Orville Wilson is chairman. In order that they may receive final instructions as to how the campaign is to be conducted. However, all divisions in the campaign organization will be represented.

W. Frank Carter, general chairman of the fund, will open the meeting. Following an invocation by the Right Rev. Frederick F. Johnson, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese, Carter will turn the meeting over to Judge Thomas C. Hennings, chairman of the Campaign Executive Committee and director-general of the drive.

Other speakers will be Aaron Fuller, president of Stix, Baer & Fuller, and Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co. There also will be community singing, led by George W. Simmons, and a presentation of the Community Fund motion picture, "Thy Neighbor and Thyself." The meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Appeal by Judge Hennings.

Judge Hennings issued the following statement today on the eve of the drive for funds:

"Four thousand men and women in the city and county will start out tomorrow to raise $1,495,837 for 51 charities and philanthropies for current expense needs for 1924. Never before in the history of St. Louis has such a large amount been asked for philanthropic purposes; nor has St. Louis ever before witnessed united appeals by any such number of charitable and philanthropic agencies serving all races and creeds.

"There are a number of new members in the Community Fund for this campaign. Citizens of this community will not be appealed to separately by the Red Cross, the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, the St. Louis Council, Boy Scouts of America, and many others. They also will not be asked to give to the Salvation Army Christmas kettles. The Community Fund has merged all these separate appeals into one.

You, as citizens, can give to 51 necessary charities and philanthropies at one time through the Community Fund, but we ask you to remember that your gift must cover the needs of the 51. The Community Fund needs, and must have, 34 per cent more than it raised for 1923 expense requirements.

Giving Once Ends It for Year.

"The 4000 workers entered with the task of raising this money are business men and women of recognized standing. They are giving all their time to this cause without remuneration of any sort other than the satisfaction of helping our less fortunate citizens to help themselves. We ask you, as citizens, to remember this fact when a community fund solicitor approaches you with an opportunity to give your share; to give the solicitor ample time to explain the cause. You will not be asked to give again to any of these 51 organizations for a year."

The Community Fund requires 34 per cent more than was contributed to the 1923 campaign because of an increase in membership amounting to more than 40 per cent. There were 40 charities and philanthropies in the 1923 drive.

Moreover, the fund will have a greater range of service during 1924, and will be able to take care of many more people. These points will be emphasized by Judge Hennings in his address tonight. The Rev. Ivan Lee Holt will close tonight's meeting with a benediction. The work of canvassing the city and county will be started tomorrow morning and the first report as to progress will be given at noon Monday at Hotel Statler. There will be daily reports all week, and the drive will close next Monday night at Hotel Chase.

MRS. COREY REPORTED ENGAGED

Story Is She May Marry Italian Nobleman.

ROME, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, who recently divorced William Ellis Corey, American steel millionaire, may soon marry an Italian nobleman, it was reported here today. Mrs. Corey refused to confirm or deny the report.

"My future plans are still unsettled," she said. "I hope, however, to remain free to enjoy the liberty I now have. I divorced Mr. Corey, not through any disagreement, but because his affairs would not allow him to live abroad, while America's climate does not agree with my health."

4 Bar Owners Appeal Fines.
Proprietors of four soft drink saloons in Maplewood, who were found guilty of selling liquor and fining $100 each by juries in the Maplewood police court Nov. 20, have filed appeals to the Circuit Court at Clayton. Each was convicted and fined separately and separate appeals were filed. The defendants are Paul Grof, Henry Kraemer, Max O. Phitzer and Ernest Straemer.

MAN ON 'DRUNKEN RAMPAGE' IS HELD FOR SHOOTING

Sam Harris Charged With 'Homicide in East St. Louis Murder Case—Woman to Be Held as Accessory.

The "drunken rampage" of Sam Harris was so closely linked with the murder of John Baxter, in East St. Louis Wednesday, that a coroner's jury today held him for homicide.

At the same time the State's Attorney announced he would charge Harris' companion, Mrs. Frances Kasseling, with being accessory before the fact, and Roy Williams, an East St. Louis chauffeur, with being accessory after the fact.

Baxter, who was 47 years old and a foreman at the American Steel Foundry, was crossing a lot at Missouri avenue and Eighteenth street at 5 p. m., on his way home with two companions, when a man stepped up to him and without saying a word fired two shots at him. One of the bullets entered Baxter's head. He died an hour later.

The slayer ordered Baxter's companions to "beat it" and jumped into an automobile, parked across the street from the lot. A woman was in the car. The man with the revolver covered the chauffeur and ordered him to drive to Tenth and Robert streets, St. Louis, where the chauffeur was put out and the couple drove away.

Identified as Chauffeur, Williams, the chauffeur, later identified Harris and Mrs. Kasseling, 39, of 5387 Latite avenue, Walnut Park, as the persons who had driven away in his automobile. Harris, who is 26, and who is known in police circles as "Red," and Mrs. Kasseling were arrested at midnight Wednesday at the Walnut Park address.

Harris also has been identified as the man who entered a saloon at Twentieth street and Missouri avenue half an hour before the shooting and, after inquiring for Baxter, who was not there, held up two customers and took $40 from them. Harris is reported to have been drinking the witnesses to the robbery told the police.

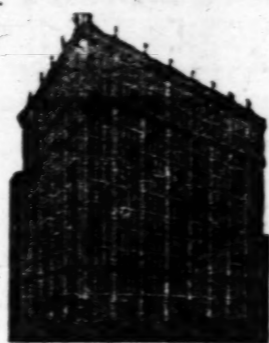

William Wells, bartender at the Missouri avenue saloon, said that Harris also was in the saloon last Monday night inquiring for Baxter. Mrs. Kasseling accompanied Harris to the door of the saloon Wednesday. Wells said, but when Harris fired a shot in the floor and ordered the customers to put up their hands, she ran to an automobile outside, which later was identified as the car driven by Williams.

Hurst Young, another chauffeur, identified Harris as the man who called him to King's highway, Northwest, and Laura avenue, near where Williams' car had been abandoned, at about 3 p. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Kasseling was with Harris. Young said, and he drove them to a house in East St. Louis. He said Mrs. Kasseling gave him a key and told him to open the back door, and that when he did that Harris, who had entered the house through the front door, pointed a revolver at him and told him to "get out."

Third Chauffeur in Case. Young later reported that Harris and Mrs. Kasseling then drove away in his car. This car was found shortly after in Granite City, where it had been abandoned. At this point a third chauffeur entered the story of the Harris "rampage." He was Arthur Kline. He told the police Harris and Mrs. Kasseling ordered him to drive them to Walnut Park and that when they got there Harris refused to pay the bill amounting to $4, and drove Kline away with a revolver. Kline telephoned the police and the arrest of Harris and Mrs. Kasseling followed.

The East St. Louis police had started a search for Harris immediately after they learned of the Baxter shooting. They announced Harris and Baxter had quarreled two weeks before and that Harris had shot Baxter. That fight was said to have been over a woman. Harris and Mrs. Kasseling, the police say, have been living in East St. Louis on B street, between Missouri and St. Louis avenues. Mrs. Kasseling was arrested in St. Louis Jan. 30, when her escort on that occasion, William N. Morgan, was shot and wounded. She accompanied Morgan to a hospital in an automobile bearing a Illinois license but both she and Morgan said the shooting had occurred at Twelfth and Biddle streets. Morgan would not say who had shot him. Mrs. Kasseling said it was a "tick-up," and the police finally dropped the case.

Baxter was unmarried and resided with his mother at 432 Columbia place, East St. Louis. His brother, the Rev. Father Edmund Baxter, is pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in East St. Louis. Harris' only reply to questions by the police regarding his movements Wednesday night were that he was "very drunk." Mrs. Kasseling told the police that she too was intoxicated and that she knows nothing about the shooting of Baxter.

FARMER WHO REMOVED GOW FROM POUND FACES DEATH

Alternative Penalty, Under Canadian Law, Is Cutting Off Ears and Deportation.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 30.—Hanging, or cutting off the ears of the accused and deporting him to the penal colony of Australia are the only penalties under existing legislation for the offense of which Angus McDonald is accused. McDonald, thirty dairyman, took a cow from the public pound, despite the protests of the pound keeper, and led it back to his herd, from which it had strayed.

A charge of pound-breach was laid before the courts. When the evidence had been presented and a verdict reached, it was found that the Canadian criminal code applied no penalty for pound-breach. Reference was made to the English common law.

An enactment of more than 150 years ago, it was found, provides that the person guilty of such an offense shall be executed, or have his ears removed and be deported to the penal colony of Australia, which was taken from the category of criminal colonies years ago.

The attention of the approaching session of the Canadian House of Commons, the only legislative body in Canada empowered to deal with the criminal code, probably will be called to the need for a misdemeanor statute to take the place of the present cavalier code.

Meantime, McDonald's sentence has been held in abeyance.

DAUGHERTY GETS RECORDS IN CRAIG CONTEMPT CASE

Letter From Judge Mayer Among Them—No Recommendation Before Next Week Likely.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Attorney-General Daugherty completed today the collection of records in the case of Charles L. Craig, Comptroller of New York City, under sentence of 60 days in jail for contempt, for whom an application for pardon is pending before the Department of Justice.

Daugherty received a letter today from Federal Judge Mayer, who adjudged Craig in contempt. Department of Justice officials were informed at the same time by District Attorney Haywood of New York that as he was not in custody at the time the original proceedings against Craig were brought, he had no recommendation to make.

With all the papers before him, Daugherty plans to prepare as quickly as possible his recommendation, deciding first whether presidential clemency can be granted in a case of civil contempt, but he said it was unlikely that he would present his views before early next week.

Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, who has been active in behalf of Craig, discussed the case with President Coolidge today for nearly half an hour.

Auto Falls on Tracks; Five Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.—Five persons, three men, a woman and a young girl, were killed yesterday when they plunged through a guard rail near the Pennsylvania avenue entrance to Fairmount Park and dropped 35 feet to the Reading Railroad tracks below. They landed directly in front of a moving freight train, which mangled some of the victims almost beyond recognition.

DEMONSTRATIVE SPIRIT AT SEANCE KISSES REPORTER

Apparition, "Brought From the Beyond" by Chicago Medium, Talks and Walks for St. Louis Spectators.

APPEARS IN GUISE OF MAN, THEN OF WOMAN

In Heavy Voice It Declares: "We Will Show You That Ectoplasm Ain't Cheese Cloth."

A "spirit from the Great Beyond," that talked and walked, came to the home of Mrs. Mary Rogers, 4036 Lafayette avenues, Wednesday night, through the ectoplasm of Mrs. Elizabeth Allen Tomson of Chicago, who claims to have staggered New York and London with spooky manifestations from beyond the grave.

It was a bold spirit, to say the least, and to prove that it was more than an apparition, kissed or embraced men and women of the audience, including the Post-Dispatch reporter present.

Mrs. Tomson was accompanied by her husband and daughter. Tomson opened the meeting with an attack upon newspapers for printing a story from Brooklyn in which it was stated that a Mr. Gallagher, after taking a bite of Mrs. Tomson's ectoplasm at one of their seances, said it tasted like cheese cloth. Tomson emphatically denied that his wife's ectoplasm tasted of cheese, as the story from Brooklyn would have one believe.

Insisted Ectoplasm Is Tasteless.

As a matter of fact, Tomson explained, ectoplasm is tasteless. It is a voracious substance that exudes from the pores of the one in seance, a kind of "spiritual perspiration," so to speak.

Furthermore, this ectoplasm sometimes becomes incensed as it forms an aura around the glowing medium and is the substance in which a spirit can take form. This is called protoplasmic etherialism. At other times, Tomson explained, as in cases of ectoplasmic transfiguration, it becomes the vehicle of mediumistic transformation. Scientists have accepted the ectoplasmic viewpoint, and the skeptics may scoff for all that Tomson cares.

The seance was supposed to be a private affair of 30 persons, including several St. Louis mediums, who had assembled for the excursion to elysium.

One corner of Mrs. Rogers' dining room was curtained on a wire and behind the curtain was a chair. Five women volunteers from the audience, examined by Mrs. Tomson when she disrobed in an adjoining room to make sure that she would not take anything behind the curtain except what she wore. This was to consist of a short black skirt and a man's coat. She borrowed a reporter's coat.

After the examination the women announced that Mrs. Tomson would enter the enclosure wearing only the garments mentioned and with no white or other material concealed about her person.

A moment later Mrs. Tomson entered the room and the curtained enclosure, visibly agitated by ectoplasmic stress or something. John Slater, Wizard of Lily Dale, who staggered St. Louis a few years ago with amazing tales of his explorations of the occult, described this agitation as due to high voltage electro-magnetic waves of high frequency that always center in a hypersensitive cosmos, such as is possessed by those attuned to the infinite.

The curtains were drawn on Mrs. Tomson and the dining room light was switched off, leaving only a blue incandescent bulb burning in the living room which cast a pale glow through the arch and against the curtained enclosure.

About 10 minutes were passed in hymn singing, followed by a period of quiet that was suddenly broken by a stentorian voice from the enclosure.

"Well, how is everyone this evening," said the voice.

"Hello, Major," several women responded.

"We are going to show you that it ain't cheese cloth this evening," shouted the Major.

"Atta boy, Major," exclaimed a man. "Show 'em up, old boy."

"You tell the world 'I will,' roared the voice. "Cheese cloth, bah."

Mrs. Tomson says the Major is the spirit of her deceased father. When the Major had finished speaking the curtains again parted, revealing a form within the enclosure clad in billowy white flowing material resembling China silk.

"Ah-h-m," exclaimed a woman. "ah! that darling; she looks like a bride."

"Come, sweet spirit," other women tenderly urged; "come, dear one; come, beautiful spirit."

But the spirit seemed to ignore these blandishments and coyly retreated. The control was weak, it was said, and those in the front row clasped hands to amplify the vibrations. This seemed to effect the desired result and a tall figure—taller than Mrs. Tomson—stepped from the enclosure, the floor creaking beneath the step.

Then began interviews with individuals in the audience that continued for about 45 minutes. The "spirit" would retreat into the enclosure after speaking to a person and then come forth again to another who would come forward to scan the sepulchral visage to see if he or she could identify a departed friend or relative. Without exception a grandmother, an aunt, an uncle, a father, a wife, a sweet-heart and a "dear school chum" were identified. The "spirit" would step forward and embrace or kiss some, heave a deep sigh, whisper something and then retreat.

Three times a Post-Dispatch reporter took a step forward and embraced the features of a deceased acquaintance. During the last interview the spirit mumbled something that sounded like "continue your work" and embraced the reporter. It was a very real embrace. The face appeared more youthful than that of Mrs. Tomson and like one made up by an undertaker.

During one of the "materializations" the spirit stumbled over a tin trumpet composed of three pieces that telescoped.

"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Rogers, who sat at one end of the enclosure. "What is she doing with my trumpet? I placed it in there so it would be magnetized."

The "spirit" thereupon took up the piece, assembled them and then whispered "good-by and good night," through the trumpet, which closed the seance.

A few minutes later, and before the lights were switched on, Mrs. Tomson emerged from the enclosure clad as she had entered and went into an adjoining room.

It was then that Tomson gave his ectoplasmic explanation of the seance, and remarked that the $2 that had been collected from each person was merely a donation to help finance the work of psychic research in which he said Mrs. Tomson was engaged.

Boys Over 18 Must Join Posse.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 30.—Boys over 18 years old must join a Sheriff's posse when lawfully called upon to do so, Attorney General Brundage has advised State's Attorney Ramey of Hillsboro. Minors, however, the Attorney General added, are ineligible to appointment as special deputy sheriff inasmuch as that office is judicial and concerns the administration of justice.

GOOD ROADS REDUCE COST OF OPERATING AUTOS

Demonstrable Earning Capacity of Improved Highways Chied by Secretary Wallace.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Some of the most important ways in which highways have a demonstrable earning capacity, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace declared, are the potential savings in cost of operation, maintenance and depreciation of motor vehicles.

It is estimated the annual fuel bill paid by motor vehicles amounts to $1,900,000,000, and the annual depreciation may be computed on an estimated investment of $1,747,500,000 in motor vehicles.

Although these figures are estimates, Secretary Wallace says they are a reasonable indication of the magnitude of the financial side of our motor transport equipment and it is evident that the operating costs will be affected materially by the general improvement of the country's highways.

AMERICAN LEGION WINS CLASH WITH THE KU KLUX KLAN

Trouble Started at Dedication of Memorial to Soldier When "K. K. K." Wreath Is Laid at Its Base

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The Ku Klux Klan and the American Legion clashed yesterday in the shadow of a monument to soldier dead.

The clash took place at Cedarhurst, L. I., during the dedication of a memorial to the soldiers of that town and Lawrence killed in the war.

The ceremonies were about to begin at the granite slab with its bronze tablet, when three Klansmen without hoods or robes pushed their way through the crowd, jumped over the ropes and laid a wreath of flowers on the monument. It bore the letters K. K. K. in white design.

Roar of Protest. There were a few murmurs of approval and a roar of protest. At that moment Col. Cornelius Wickham, head of the Cedarhurst Legion Post, and son of George W. Wickham, former Attorney-General of the United States, arrived. A gold star mother protested to him.

The legion members moved to one side and held a conference. Suddenly two soldiers and a sailor trailed down the group grabbed the wreath from the monument and started to carry it away. They were met by the Klansmen and the fight followed. Other members of the legion hurried up, and the Klansmen were roughly handled when they tried to get to the struggling group near the monument.

The police arrived and tried to stop the fight by persuasion, without avail. It was growing hotter and threatened to become a riot when Col. Wickham jumped on the monument, barged both sides to stop and asked that the wreath be turned over to him. He got it, but it was little more than a wreath of a few faded flowers still clinging to it.

Klansmen Finally Routed. The ceremony then proceeded. Speeches were made by a Catholic priest, a Protestant minister and a rabbi. The latter was Dr. Isaac Selman, editor of the American Hebrew.

At the end of his talk the Klansmen made their final dash to put the wreath on the monument. Once more the legion members blocked them and this time the police intervened. The Klansmen then gave up the attempt.

RUHR EVENTS AFFECT ARIZONA

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 25.—Events in the Ruhr have more effect on the commercial situation in Arizona than on that of any other State, according to P. G. Spinkbury, president of the Arizona Industrial Congress. He said this was because "copper is the backbone of Arizona's prosperity."

In a recent address Spinkbury stated: "On an average, Germany bought 121,000,000 pounds of copper a year before the war. Her maximum purchases in one year reached about 400,000,000 pounds, or almost as much as Arizona's annual output. Now France is not permitting Germany to export her manufactured products, with the result that Germany's purchases have ceased."

POSTAL CLERK HANGS HIMSELF

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

Alex Copeland, said to have been dependent over illness of wife, Alex Copeland, 40 years old, of 2123 Clark avenue, a clerk in the Postoffice, was found hanging from a beam in his home at 3:45 p. m. yesterday when his mother-in-law, Mrs. Belle Smith, returned home from a brief visit at the home of friends. Copeland apparently had stood on a chair while he adjusted a rope around his neck and then kicked away the chair. The body was taken to the morgue.

Mrs. Smith told police Copeland's wife had been ill for some time and two weeks ago had been taken to a hospital. Copeland had been dependent over his wife's condition, she said, and had threatened to end his life.

REPORTS $50,000 GEM ROBBERY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TULSA, Ok., Nov. 25.—Diamonds said to be valued at between $15,000 and $18,000 were reported stolen last night by thieves who entered a hotel room here occupied by Charles Madaleno, representative of a wholesale diamond company of Memphis, Tenn. The robbery was discovered by Madaleno when he returned from a theater. He told the police. Stones in another case valued at $75,000 and mounted gems in a trunk valued at $150,000 were overlooked, he said.

Woman Seeks Lost Outfit. Correspondent of the Associated Press. FLYMOORE, England, Nov. 25.—Charlotte Cameron, the woman explorer, is headed for Mexico. She intends spending eight months in that country studying Aztec ruins and hopes to discover traces of the lost continent of Atlantis.

NIGHT LIGHT ON LIBERTY BELL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—The Liberty Bell, treasured American relic, will be made visible to the public, day and night, summer and winter, under plans being formulated by Whitford Jordan, curator of Independence Hall, where the bell rests.

Heretofore thousands of visitors have failed to see the famous old bell because the building is closed to the public during certain hours. Under the new plans it is proposed to place at the rear portals of Independence Hall a Georgian grill of wrought iron work, so open in character that the bell may be clearly seen at all times. At night it will be illuminated with floodlights.

Property of Harry Campbell, 67, Bequeathed to William H. Hubele.

The will of Harry Campbell, 62 years old, who died today at the City Hospital was filed for probate
by William H. Hubele, 1221 Morrison avenue, Republican Central Committeeman for the Seventh Ward, to whom Campbell left all his property. The estate is estimated by Hubele to be worth $15,000 to $20,000.
Campbell for 18 years conducted a saloon at 223 South Third street.
He was taken to the hospital a few days ago suffering with spinal meningitis. Hubele said he and Campbell had been close friends for years and that Campbell is survived by no relatives. The will was made Aug. 18, 1931.

BODY FOUND BESIDE TRACKS

Teamster Probably Hit by Train Near Sherman, Mo.

The body of Valentine Baird, 32 years old, a teamster, was found at 4:30 a. m. today beside the Missouri Pacific tracks at Sherman, Mo., about three miles west of Valley Park. The nature of his injuries indicated he had been hit by a train. Baird, who was employed by the Monroeville Portland Cement
Co., lived at Sherman.
The body was removed to an unidentified establishment at Kirkwood, where the inquest is to be held today.

DYER TO PUSH LYNCHING BILL

Announces He Will Introduce
By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—An anti-lynching bill will be pressed during the forthcoming session of Congress by Representative Dyer, Republican, Missouri. He announced today he would introduce such a measure substantially in the form in which it was passed by the House in the last Congress.
The Senate failed to act on it.

Anti-Klan Convention in Oklahoma

By the Associated Press

OKLAHOMA, Nov. 25.—The Anti-Klan Association of Oklahoma, gaining a membership of nearly 20,000, will hold a state convention here today in which it has been announced efforts will be made to form a plan of concerted political action against the Ku Klux Klan.
Advertisements for the gathering, declaring that 90 per cent of the state officers in Oklahoma are members of the Ku Klux Klan, say the convention will begin a movement to elect a non-Klan Governor and a non-Klan Legislature within the next five years.

Would the Navy Against Rum

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The of the Navy instead of additional cutters to combat rum runners was advocated today by Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, one of the most active of the Senate drys. He said that so long as the Navy and Shipping Board have ships to sell, he would oppose the Treasury recommendation for an appropriation for new revenue cutters.

Americans Seek Big Polish Forest
LONDON, Nov. 25.—Negotiations are under way for concession of timber rights in the Polish forest of Bialowieska, one of the largest in Europe, to a consortium of American financiers, according to an announcement by the Polish Press Bureau. The Americans are said to have offered the Polish Government $40,000,000 for the concession. The Bialowieska forest covers 470 square miles of flat partly marshy land between Neman, Bug and Pripiet rivers.

$16,869 ROBBERY REPORTED IN UNITED HOME BUILDING

Jewelers' Office Apparently Entered With Duplicate Keys—Safe Opened Without Violence

Chief detectives are investigating a report that a safe in the office of Parker & Co., manufacturing jewelers, in the United Home Building, was robbed of jewelry, bonds and cash to the value of $16,869, Wednesday night. The office apparently was entered by means of a duplicate key. The burglar or burglars are supposed to have been familiar with the premises and to have possessed the combination to the safe, which was opened without violence.

Police were summoned to the office at 9:15 p. m. Wednesday by John J. Kirk of 5701 Burright avenue, treasurer of the firm. He told them that he had left there at 5:30 attended a movie and returned for the overcoat at 9, when he learned of the robbery. The safe was open and the contents missing. The combination was intact and nowhere were there marks on the safe. Kirk said the lost included $16,869 worth of jewelry, $150 in currency and a few pieces of jewelry were scattered on the floor near the safe.

The only place where persons might have entered without a key was through an open transom in the workshop. The dust on the transom was undisturbed, however. Kirk said the combination of the safe presumably was known only by the five members of the firm. The company is insured against robbery following forcible entry.

NOTE ENCLOSED $3 OWING TO FATHER, DEAD 28 YEARS

Capt. T. Rosmer Roemer, police drillmaster, who resides at 3443 Shaw avenue, yesterday received through the mail a pink envelope. When he opened it, a pink note and $3 in green bills dropped out. The note, in a woman's handwriting, read:

"Enclosed please find $3. It was owing to your father for services to a widow."

Capt. Roemer's father was Dr. Bernard Roemer, a physician and surgeon who had office at 1112 Chouteau avenue until his death 28 years ago.

A few days ago, Capt. Roemer's wife received a telephone call. The caller identified herself as a widow and asked if the captain was a son of the late Dr. Roemer. Told that he was, she expressed thanks and hung up.

Capt. Roemer and a brother, Edward, as heirs of their father, have decided to use the $3 toward buying a floral wreath to be placed on their father's grave Christmas day.

TRUSTEESHIP FOR COUNTRY CLUB

Affairs of the Madison County Country Club at Edwardsville have been placed in the hands of trustees, under agreement entered into at a special meeting of the membership. At this meeting all holders of stock and those having claims waived their claims and the trusteeship was agreed to. After expending $74,690, the members found themselves $18,808 in debt with no funds. A total of $21,900 syndicate advancements will be deferred as to payment until the trusteeship has taken care of the $18,808 in unpaid accounts. The trustees named are D. G. Williamson, George D. Burroughs, C. W. Terry and F. H. Blackmore of Edwardsville, and R. B. Studebaker of Madison.

Traffic Sergeant Transferred.
Traffic Sgt. Cliff Reber, who has been in charge of the squad working west of Seventh street and outlining traffic policemen, was transferred to the Detective Bureau by Chief O'Brien today. Detective Sgt. Walter Hughes, one of the narcotic squad working with Government agents in the "clean-up" in St. Louis, who formerly was a traffic policeman, was transferred to uniform to replace Reber. The change was made by request, Chief O'Brien said.

Davenport Pleads Not Guilty

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Nov. 23.—Dr. A. E. Davenport, State Health Commissioner, today pleaded not guilty to five charges of diverting public funds contained in indictments returned last week. Bond of $5,000 on each of the charges, made when the indictments were returned, will stand until his trial.

Why shouldn't you be as careful about QUALITY in CANNED FRUITS as we are -

You ought to be!

You and your family eat them.

Certainly there's no use experimenting with unknown brands—especially when you know how particular we are about the quality of DEL MONTE.

The secret of buying canned fruits is just this: Know the brand you want—then see that you get it.

You always know in advance exactly what DEL MONTE quality is—the same uniform goodness in every variety—the same assurance of satisfaction, no matter where or when you buy.

Isn't it worth while being particular?

12 PERSONS INJURED WHEN INTERURBAN CARS COLLIDE

Unable to Obtain Orders Because Heavy Snow Had Torn Down Wires.

By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., Nov. 30.—Running without orders and in a snowstorm, two interurban cars of the South-west Missouri Railroad Co. crashed head-on at a curve near Galena, Kan., yesterday afternoon. Twelve persons were injured.

The westbound car was traveling downgrade at a fast rate of speed, when Tom W. Cowen, motorman, saw the eastbound car approaching. He applied the brakes, but failed to check the speed of the car materially, and stepped back into the car as the crash came, escaping injury.

John Holly, motorman on the eastbound car, also applied the air and jumped just before the cars came together.

Officials of the company said the conductors of each car had orders to proceed to the point where the accident occurred, but because the heavy snow had torn down wires, further orders could not be sent to them. Each conductor then decided to make a sliding.

13 MEN ARE SENTENCED IN CONNECTION WITH AUTO THEFT

Convicted in Case of Alleged Klu Klux Operations Centering in El Dorado, Ark.

By the Associated Press.
MONROE, La., Nov. 30.—Sentences were passed yesterday on the 13 men convicted in connection with the alleged auto theft rings operating in two states with El Dorado, Ark., as a base. Those sentenced: Garland Grace, 14 months and $500 fine; Andrew H. Colvin and Mabe T. Hall, 18 months and $300 fine; H. Byrd Grace, one year and one day; Clyde Grace, 14 months; Genie Clark and Clay Bowers, 15 months each; Jack Ryals, 15 months; Jack Graves, 14 months; Doyle Primm, Walker Robinson, J. B. Hardy, Robert Dewey, one year and one day each.

All prison sentences will be served in the Atlanta penitentiary.

TRADE CONTRACT ARBITRATION

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Nov. 30.—A letter has been sent to 16 members of the League of Nations by Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general, urging all Governments to subscribe as soon as possible to the protocol applying the arbitration clause to commercial contracts. The decision to open this protocol to the signature of all states, irrespective of their league affiliation, was reached at the September meeting of the assembly. The custom of inserting an arbitration agreement in commercial engagements is spreading in various countries.

The aim of the league is to push this movement further by centralization and universal accords. Eight Governments have signed the protocol up to date. It goes into force when ratifications by two Governments have been registered with the secretariat of the league at Geneva.

UNIVERSITY CITY HOME LOOTED

Burglars Get $1000 in Jewelry and Seal-skin Coat Valued at $750.

Burglars who entered the home of Norman J. Jones, 319 Westgate avenue, between 6 p. m. and 10 p. m. Wednesday afternoon, took about $1000 in jewelry, a seal-skin coat worth about $750, and wearing apparel. The intruders gained entrance by forcing a dining room window. Among the things taken were a platinum ring, set with diamonds, a bar pin, a platinum lavaliere, and two gold pins.

$47.50 WILL BUY SCHOOLHOUSE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—A school building for $47.50 is offered for sale by the Chicago Board of Education.

In its single room some of the city's pioneer citizens first learned their "three R's" and up to a few months ago it was used as a branch school. Now it is so old it is crumbling to pieces. The price represents its value at kindling.

Acquitted of Murder Charge.

By the Associated Press.

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 30.—John W. Clure, on trial in the Circuit Court here since Monday on a charge of murder in connection with the disappearance and supposed death of Alexander P. Boyer, a former army officer, was acquitted yesterday. Only parts of what was supposed to be Boyer's body were found.

Thumbprint Bride's Only Signature

By the Associated Press.

YAKIMA, Wash., Nov. 30.—Miss Lizzie Pistole's thumbprint was placed on her marriage certificate. It was revealed here when she was married here to John Heenan, Yakima Indian, by Judge V. O. Nicholson, yesterday. The Indian bride said it was the only signature she could make, and that it was her fourth marriage. Heenan informed the judge that he had been married "about three times before."

No Will for $1,000,000 Estate.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—F. W. Foulds, head of a $5,000,000 macaroni manufacturing company, who died recently, left no will to direct the distribution of his property estimated at more than $1,000,000, according to a report made in the Lake County Probate Court yesterday. The Public Administrator will take charge.

Pure white—and as pure as it looks

The immaculate whiteness of Northern Tissue is appreciated by the fastidious housekeeper almost as much as its hygienic purity.

For naturally she wants to carry out the snow-white motif of the modern bathroom in the minutest detail, and no paper matches the glistening white tile and spotless porcelain fixtures like pure white Northern Tissue.

Here is one place that the esthetic sense and the economic sense go hand in hand, for Northern Tissue—the purest, whitest paper made—really costs no more than the ordinary kind. A generous, tightly wound package which contains more than many rolls that look much larger.

No embarrassing conversation is necessary.
Just say "Northern Tissue" to your grocer or druggist.

PROGRESSIVE BLOC TO OPPOSE GILLET

Spokesmen for Group Predict
They Will Be Able to Delay Organization of House.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Prediction that the Progressive bloc would be able to delay organization of the House by refusing to support Representative Gillett of Massachusetts for re-election as Speaker was made today by spokesmen for the group after a conference at which legislation, modification of House rules and committee assignments were discussed.
Leaders in the movement reiterated that no agreement had been reached, or is likely, for members of the group to center its vote solidly for some one candidate other than Gillett. It being the sense that each should vote for whom he pleased in opposition to the Massachusetts representative. Prediction that the election of the Massachusetts representative on the first ballot Monday could be prevented, they said, were based on the assumption that the Democrats would vote as a unit for Representative Garrett of Tennessee; and that without the support of the Progressive group, Gillett would fall of a majority.
"We intend to show," said one of the Progressives, "that we are not bluffing. The fight over the Speakership will be nothing compared to the stand we will take later for liberalization of House rules and committees."
Progressives, it was declared, will attend the Republican conference at which organization plans will be laid. They expect to state their position, refuse to be bound by the decision of the conference and leave themselves free to vote for any candidate for the Speakership they see fit. A number of Wisconsin Progressives had announced their intention of supporting Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, one of the veterans of the House.
House members supporting Gillett for the Speakership and Representative Longworth, Ohio, for the Republican leadership, generally were of the view today that the Progressives might succeed in playing House organization lame, however, were of the opinion they would be unable to corral and hold sufficient votes to prevent Gillett from finally obtaining majority.

ZEIDLER REMAINS IN JAIL, HEARING SET FOR DEC. 17

Application for Writ of Habeas Corpus for Paroled Bank Robber Is Withdrawn.
"Big Gus" Zeidler will remain in jail at Edwardsville until Dec. 17, the date for which his hearing, on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, was set today by Circuit Judge Gillham. In the meantime, Gus will have to get along without Zeidler's cooking.
Zeidler, who was sent to the Chester penitentiary in 1918 for his part in robbing the Tri-City State Bank at Madison, was found recently to be at liberty, serving as cook in the Governor's mansion at Springfield. The Madison County authorities then caused his arrest on the assault charge, which was based on the locking of the bank's cashier in a vault. An application for a writ of habeas corpus for Zeidler's release was filed, but this application was withdrawn today by a Chicago lawyer representing the prisoner.

MEXICO OBJECTS TO FILMS

Note Asks Argentina to Ban Certain North American Movies.
By the Associated Press.
BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 10.—The Mexican legation today presented a note to Foreign Minister Gallardo, asking that the Argentine Government prohibit exhibition in this country of certain North American motion picture films containing scenes offensive to Mexico. The note charged that North American film corporations for some time had been distributing pictures "defamatory of any of the Latin peoples of this continent, and especially of the Mexican nation."
The protest was referred to the Attorney-General, who expressed the opinion that the complaint lacked precision in that it did not specify the scenes which were alleged to be offensive. He also called attention to the constitutional guarantees involved in the case and recommended thorough investigation before any action was taken.

AMERICANS TO GIVE BENEFIT FOR NEEDY GERMAN WRITERS

Proceeds From Operas and Theatrical Performances for Authors and Artists.

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—When this country was in the greatest difficulties, almost on the verge of starvation, it received assistance from Germany—food parcels and clothing. Austrian children, especially from Vienna, were welcomed most hospitably in Berlin, although most of them were none too favorable even then. The tables are turned now and Austria is preparing to do everything in her power to help the Germans.

Dr. Hans Schurr, Minister for Commerce and Traffic, has urgently appealed to the whole population to assist German authors and artists, who, along with their families, are in many cases on the verge of starvation; and the Austrian authors' society, Concordia, is going to help German writers and journalists in distress. Important concerts under Schalk and Furtwangler and special opera and other theatrical performances will be given, the proceeds of which will be used for the needy German writers and artists.

STORM WRECKS HOMES, KILLS FIVE PERSONS, IN LOUISIANA

By the Associated Press.
HOUMA, La., Nov. 30.—Five persons, four of them members of one family, were killed and five others were injured in a storm which wrecked 25 houses in the little Calhou Bayou section, 16 miles south of here, Wednesday night.

The dead: Ralph Guidry, his wife and two children, Alice and Laurin, 11 and 14, and Katherine Brunet, 12.

The Guidrys were killed when their home collapsed, burying them in the ruins. A 2-month-old baby, the remaining member of the family, was blown more than 100 yards into a field where it was found unhurt. The Brunet girl was drowned when the houseboat in which she lived with her parents was capsized. Brunet and his wife escaped.

REPORT IN LONDON PRESS OF GERMAN MILITARY ACTIVITY

Reuter's Agency Says "Disturbing Information" Has Reached Government—Many Recruits Trained.

FOREIGN OFFICE REPUDIATES STORY

War Department Makes Plain It Did Not Indorse Report and London Times Minimizes It.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 30.—The newspapers this morning are devoting considerable attention to a news item sent out by Reuter's, dealing with military preparations in Germany. Information concerning which the news agency says has reached the British Government.

The article declares the British are concerned over the situation and its bearing on the peace of Europe. The Foreign Office, in a statement, however, says the information given out should not be attributed to any official authority.

"Disturbing information concerning the extent to which Germany is recruiting and rearming has been received by the British Government," says the Reuter's article. "Although the view is taken officially that this information reveals potential rather than imminent danger, the British authorities are frankly concerned over the situation and its bearing on the peace of Europe."

Recruiting in Bavaria. "It is known that rapid military training of a large number of men in excess of the Versailles Treaty stipulations has been progressing. This, it is declared, is more than ever the case since the allied military control ceased nearly a year ago. Recruiting has been especially active in Bavaria, where the security police have been engaged in maneuvers with the army. The training of students also is in constant progress."

"It is also known that attempts to induce Germany to produce recruiting returns in order to enable the allies to check up the paper strength of the German army at any given moment have been unsuccessful."

"Recent information from British observers in Germany shows that more men than ever are being trained and that the police, the regimental associations and the student organizations are all bigger than ever. British officials here, however, feel that Germany is not able at present to arm the large number of men she is training in the event of mobilization with the necessary artillery, owing to the French being in possession of her principal industrial and munitions area in the Ruhr."

"But it is also known that close relations have been cultivated by the Krupp with Russia and Sweden. Whether these relations are concerned with the manufacture and supply of guns it is not yet possible to say."

Work of Small Arms Factories. "It is also pointed out that up to the time the allied control was relaxed the allies had not succeeded in getting rid of most more than half the rifles in the country. Little doubt is entertained by British officials that the small arms factories in Thuringia and elsewhere are turning out these and the necessary cartridges on a large scale."

Notwithstanding the official disavowal of government responsibility for the dispatch, it attracted considerable attention, especially in those newspapers habitually suspicious of Germany. Some others take the view that it represents an unworthy attack on Gen. Bingham, representative of the inter-allied military control commission in Germany.

Curiously as to who inspired the statement is expressed by several of the papers, and the Times makes it the subject of an editorial entitled "A Spurious Sensation."

The newspaper does not complain at the information contained in the statement, which it says probably is not very wide of the mark, but asserts there is hardly anything new in it and that the subject matter is conveyed in such a way as to create a wrong impression.

Official Repudiation of Story by Two Departments. Copyright, 1923, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—London evening newspapers feature a Reuter's story of enormous concealed German armaments. The story hints that Germany is thus preparing for a new war.

This was officially repudiated last night both by the Foreign Office and the War Office. It was issued by Reuter, however, in a form always chosen for semi-official propaganda. It is understood the news agency was once imposed on by a War Office employee, who was acting on his own initiative.

Reuter's believed the story had War Office indorsement, but this was not true.

FIRE ESCAPE ROAD FOR THIEVES

Fireman in Cellar Thought Noise Was Tenants Repairing Offices. Burglars climbed a fire escape on the Euclid Building, 393 North Euclid avenue, early yesterday and entered through a window of the third floor. They then "jimmied" a door into the office of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co., where a. m. but supposed tenants were making repairs, so paid little attention to the noise.

A fireman who was in the basement at the time reported later that he had heard hammering on one of the upper floors about 1:30 p. m. but supposed tenants were making repairs, so paid little attention to the noise.

| Christmas Eve At Grandma's (Descriptive Novelty) A record for the kiddies. They will be delighted when they hear Santa Claus and the sleigh bells. The grooves will enjoy this too. 413 Yuletide Echoes (Vocal with Orchestra) Christmas hymns and carols. I've Got A Song For Sale (That My Sweetie Turned Down) (Fox Trio) If you like real jazz, here is a record that will get you. A marvel of syncopation. 414 Cry Baby (Fox Trio) The hit of the musical comedy success, Helen of Troy, New York. A perfect dance number, perfectly recorded. Just A Girl That Men Forget (Waltz) Filled with plenty of true romantic spirit by Arthur Lange's Orchestra. 401 A Girl Is Like Sunshine (Fox Trio) From Earl Carroll's "Vanities of 1924." A beautiful melody, beautifully recorded. Midnight Rose (Fox Trio) In this record Bob Harling's Velveteen Orchestra has created a genuine hit. 419 Where Rainbows End (Fox Trio) Arthur Lange's Orchestra has surely done justice to this one. Played with vim and vivacity—it will keep your feet going. Marches (A Love Song of Old Mexico) (Fox Trio) A beautiful melody, into which Bob Harling's Velveteen Orchestra has introduced that dreamy lullaby so truly Mexican. 422 My Cherry Blossoms (Fox Trio) Carry you right to the Orient. The top-toned and other effects so characteristic of the Far East have been superbly recorded by Arthur Lange's Orchestra. Cold, Cold Winter Blues (Vocal Blues) The inimitable crooning voice of Lucille Hegeman's charming voice, accompanied by the Dixie Daisies. 415 Dime (Vocal Blues) Lucille Hegeman and the Dixie Daisies again. A dandy blues record. | 420 Oh! Joe (Fox Trio) In this number the Varsity Night boys again proved that when college men play dance music, it's done master! Somebody's Wrong (Fox Trio) Bob Harling's Velveteen Orchestra has introduced every known instrument into the recording, including two violins with a plaintive "saxophone" accompaniment. 421 If I Knew You Then As I Know You Now (Fox Trio) A smuggy dance number. There's lots of animation in it—and beauty, too. Maxima Goes Where Papa Goes (Or Papa Don't Go Out Tonight) (Fox Trio) In this record the Dixie Daisies have given you a capital "blues" number. 418 Oh Baby! (Fox Trio) Another peppy "blues" number, played in the style mastered by the Dixie Daisies. Every Night I Cry Myself To Sleep Over You (Fox Trio) Introducing the beautiful voice of William Rogers in all its rich, rich quality. 416 Pretty Peggy (Fox Trio) Another William Rogers number. From Earl Carroll's "Vanities of 1924." What Do You Do Sunday, Morn'g? (Fox Trio) From "Topsy," the New York musical comedy success. As big a hit as the show. Played by Arthur Lange's Orchestra. 417 Youth Begins Like (Fox Trio) If you like to dance, this dance, handled with much melody by William Rogers. 423 Somewhere A Yuletide Is Calling (Tender Solo) As Dwarling (Leroy Young) (Tender Solo) Song with much feeling by William Rogers. 370 Melody In F (Cello Solo) The Swan Lake (Cello Solo) (Cello Solo) Solo 358 Melody In F (Cello Solo) The Swan Lake (Cello Solo) (Cello Solo) Solo 418 Melody In F (Cello Solo) The Swan Lake (Cello Solo) (Cello Solo) Solo 418 Melody In F (Cello Solo) The Swan Lake (Cello Solo) (Cello Solo) Solo |

YORKSHIRE DISTRICT FOR TARIFF ON STEEL

Shops in Sheffield Flooded With Low-Priced Cutlery Imported From Germany.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News.

SHEFFIELD, England, Nov. 17.—The Yorkshire steel industry wants a protective tariff very badly; therefore Premier Baldwin is sure of an election victory in this district.

The manufacturers here point out that almost $100,000 worth of cutlery was imported in September, which was quite as much as was imported during the same period last year. Most of this cutlery came from Germany, which, despite the Ruhr occupation, still carries on a lively competition with the Sheffield steel trade, selling finished articles at less than the actual cost of the same articles in this country.

Shops Full of German Cutlery. Right in Sheffield, the center of the British cutlery industry, the shops are full of knives, razors and other cutlery of German origin. These articles are selling at such a low price that the home industry has no chance of competing with them.

The unemployment situation is just as acute as at Birmingham, and it is for these reasons that both workmen and manufacturers are clamoring for a high tariff, or some other measure that will prevent dumping of foreign products on the home markets.

The advantage that foreign competitors have over the British steel industry is so great, according to local manufacturers, that both German and Czechoslovakian steel interests have proposed sending large quantities of tool steel here at almost 21 per cent less than the local price of these stocks, the steel to be paid for only when used.

Sheffield and the rest of the Yorkshire steel industry is having a hard enough struggle meeting the factories going, said one manufacturer, "but if these continental surpluses are allowed to take new business out of our hands, a large number of our factories unquestionably will have to close down."

Another Argument Used. Another argument used in favor of Premier Baldwin's program is that it is supposed to stimulate the business in the agricultural machinery branch of the steel industry, which is at a complete standstill just now.

Labor is having a hard time finding suitable candidates in the district. So far only two candidates have been found for the seven seats to be contested in Sheffield. Although the unionists do not expect to win an easy victory in Birmingham, they feel sure they will gain an easy majority despite the reunion of the Liberals.

FORMER HAPSBURG-ARCHDUKE MANAGES POTTERY FACTORY

Young Joseph Francis, Son of Former Field Marshal, Recently Married Princess.

BUDAPEST, Nov. 8.—Born to the purple, a scion of the once mighty Hapsburgs, Archduke Joseph Francis has assumed a new and truly democratic title. He is director in chief of the largest ceramic factory in this city, and although only 24 years old, he is proving himself an active, earnest and efficient executive. After the fortunes of his family crashed in the World War, Archduke Joseph Francis—to call him so still—went to Berlin, where he studied the art of manufacturing objects of all sorts in clay and of decorating them by painting or modeling. He became an expert potter that several German porcelain makers offered him good positions, but he returned to Budapest, where once he dwelt in the palace of his father, Field Marshal Archduke Joseph.

The young Archduke's mother was a Princess of Bavaria, so in the veins of this high-born workman flows the blood of the Wittelsbachs. Surely the former Archduke has every incentive to replenish his purse, for only last month he married Princess Anna Monica, 20 years old, the youngest daughter of former King Frederick Augustus of Saxony. The youthful pair first met at Regensburg during August at the wedding of Prince Frederick Christian, of Saxony, and the Princess of Thurn and Taxis. They fell in love, their engagement was announced only to their relatives and most intimate friends; they were married at Sybilleinstadt Castle, near Munich. The affair was so unostentatious that even the neighbors scarcely knew the ceremony had been performed.

Cranberries

With Pot-Roast

Did you know that Cranberries cooked with pot-roast or other boiled meats make these cheaper cuts more tender and much more delicious?

To prepare a 3 lb. pot-roast:

Brown meat in 3 tablespoons of hot fat. When surface is brown, remove meat from pan and add three cups of water; stir until boiling, then add 2 cups of Cranberry Sauce, made less sweet than usual; replace meat in pan with this gravy sauce and proceed with cooking in ordinary way. When the meat is half cooked, season with salt and pepper. There is a real difference in Cranberries. Insist on getting "Eatmor" brand. AMERICAN CRANBERRY EXCHANGE, 90 W. 4th, New York.

4570 Aero Flyers Have Been Awarded Free To Boys & Girls By The Post-Dispatch

That the FREE Aero Flyer offer found favor with hustling boys and girls is attested by this immense free distribution of these dandy coaster wagons.

That the Aero Flyers awarded by the Post-Dispatch have given general satisfaction and afforded both pleasure and service to boy and girl owners is shown by the fact that hundreds have enrolled on the advice of friends who had, themselves, earned their coaster wagons by spare-time effort, and had been surprised by the great merit of the award made for the moderate service required.

That you may enroll now with confidence in your success is a reasonable expectation. Surely you can work as industriously and perseveringly as the 4570 boys and girls who have already earned their coaster wagons!

Santa Claus Will Bring Aero Flyers To Homes That Plan Now For Free Awards

Parents and other adult relatives of small boys and girls who look to Santa Claus to supply the much-wanted Aero Flyer will recognize this offer as timely, and will find, too, that the Post-Dispatch is prepared to co-operate effectively. Ample provision has been made for stocks of Aero Flyers. Delivery will be deferred, upon request, until December 15th or later.

Only a little more than four weeks intervene before Christmas. If you would make some boy or girl happy through the gift of an Aero Flyer on Christmas morning—Enroll Now!

TERMS OF THE OFFER—READ CAREFULLY

Offer is open only to persons who are not identified with the sale or distribution of the POST-DISPATCH, and who reside within St. Louis carrier delivery limits, including East St. Louis, Belleville, Granite City, Venice and Madison in Illinois; and Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Florissant, Valley Park and Maplewood in Missouri.

The Field Was so Slippery Yesterday That the Billikens Almost Slipped One Over on Notre Dame

Billikens' Great Defense Holds Notre Dame's Wonder Eleven to Two Touchdowns on Muddy Field

St. Louis Has Chance to Score When Westhus Recovered Blocked Kick, but Lacks Attacking Power to Cross Line—Ramacciotti, O'Toole, Geraghty and Hannegan Star.

By Joseph F. Holland.

St. Louis University spent 10 days tightening its defense for the smashing attack of Notre Dame and yesterday, with Sportsman's Park ankle deep in mud, satisfied itself that it had accomplished its purpose and won its objective. Notre Dame, victor in three sensational intersectional battles and the vanquished in a fourth, won by a margin of two touchdowns, a marvelous performance upon that rain-soaked, quagmire field. But St. Louis was satisfied. The record book, which does not show the condition of a field, will point out in black and white that Notre Dame defeated St. Louis, 13 to 0, and Princeton, 25 to 2.

St. Louis did what it had set out to do. It was a beaten team when the game was scheduled last year, and it was a beaten team, on form, when it skidded out upon the pool-dotted field yesterday afternoon. But in all that sea of mud, with uniforms 30 pounds heavier, soaked with mud, it battled the great Notre Dame eleven to a standstill in all but two instances.

There were 11 individuals in the St. Louis line-up who played with wonderful defensive football. Ramacciotti, O'Toole, Geraghty and Bob Hannegan, the punter, may be especially mentioned.

Hannegan excels at punting. Hannegan's work was so steady that it almost lost its spectacular element. He punted 12 times under the worst conditions of the year and averaged 33 yards. He was invaluable. When St. Louis took the ball and smashed unavailingly at the Notre Dame line—St. Louis made only two first downs—called for Hannegan on fourth down. A slip meant disaster, but Hannegan did not slip. Only once was a punt blocked and that came when the center's pass was bad and dropped dead in the mud.

The kicks were not long, graceful spirals. The wet, mud-covered ball precluded that possibility. They were just brute crashes of the shoe against the ball, but somehow the heavy ball carried out of a danger. Once Hannegan punted 52 yards and once he punted only 20. But each time he got that ball away when the pass was even fair. Ramacciotti, who depends upon a fast field to gain, turned his efforts to defense. He backed up the

Notre Dame's Scores Result From Long Marches; Passing Game Not Resorted To

There were only two sustained marches down the field, and Notre Dame made its two touchdowns in this manner. St. Louis had only one opportunity to score, and it came so suddenly that it hardly knew how to handle it. Hannegan had kicked to Notre Dame's 20-yard line and Layden, the South Bend punter, went back to kick. Schwartz dragged himself through the mud and threw himself at Layden as his foot swung toward the ball.

Westhus Recovered Blocked Kick. The punt was blocked and "Bud" Westhus, the other Billiken tackle, fell upon it on the 20-yard line. Ramacciotti smashed the ball for five yards and exhausted from his efforts, was relieved by Schaeffer. Two more plunges lost ground and then the Billikens tried the forward pass, football's "squeeze play." That failed too and Notre Dame had hardly lined up the ball when the whistle blew and the game was over.

In the two steady marches to the goal, the generalship of Harry Stuhldreher, Notre Dame quarterback, stood out prominently. He ran off plays with lightning rapidity and varied his attack in bewildering fashion. He could not resort to the one yard line and made Notre Dame famous. He had to plug at the line and when the opportunity offered, sweep an end. Notre Dame tried three forward passes and completed one but that one only gained the line of scrimmage.

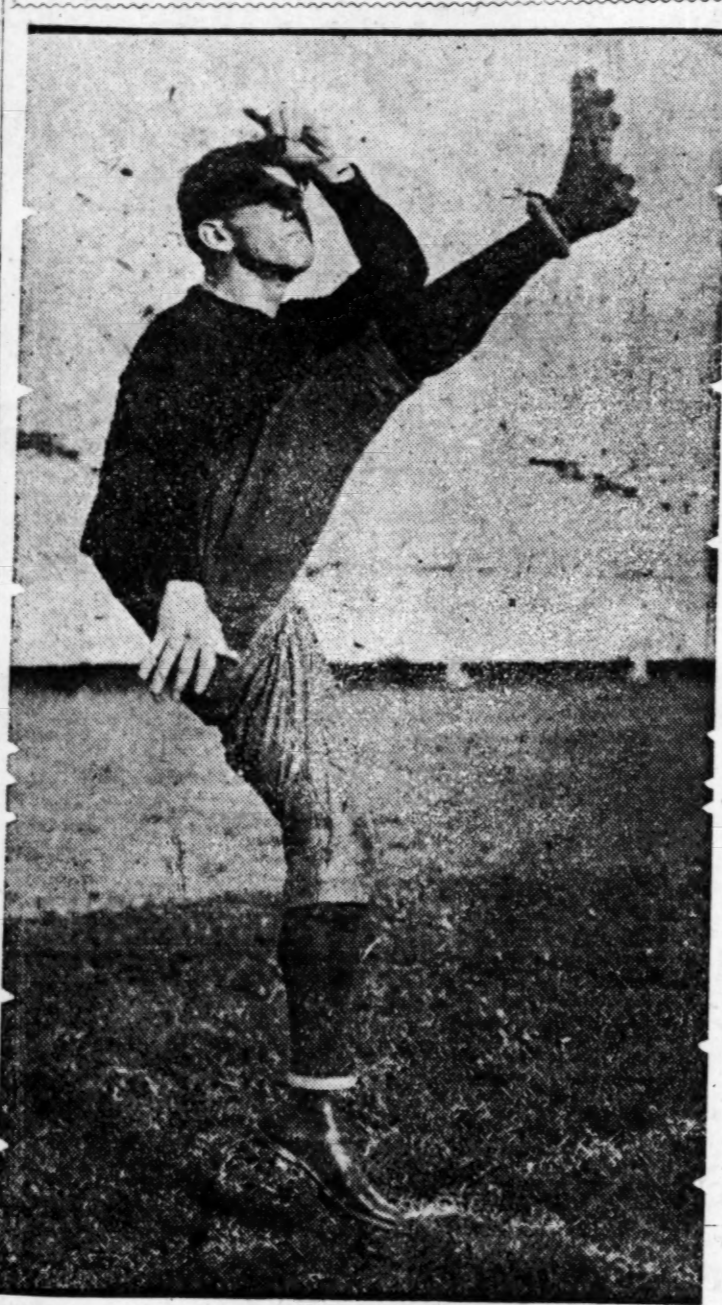

In the first quarter, Notre Dame took the ball after Hannegan had kicked out of bounds on his own 16-yard line. Crowley, Layden and Bergmann carried the ball in steady succession of smashes and finally it was just within St. Louis' five-yard mark with four downs to go. On fourth down Layden, who scored both touchdowns for Knute Rockne, drove over from the one-yard line for Notre Dame's first score. Crowley failed to kick goal.

From that time until the final quarter Stuhldreher was unable to consistently rain with his attack. In the closing period, however, he began another drive on his own 45-yard line and tried to swing his team over to the one grassy plot on the large gridiron that offered firm footing.

The plunging Layden started with five yards and Crowley came back with seven more. Then Connell, swept off right tackle for 17 yards. It was one rush after another until the St. Louis five-yard line was attained. Then Layden was called again and in two plunges he took it over. This time Crowley kicked goal.

It was a great game considering the difficulties under which it was played and the 10,000 crowd left to conjecture the picture of the attendance that might have been drawn had the day been fair and the field fast. But if these conditions had obtained it is doubtful, extremely doubtful, if the record book would

KING SOLOMON'S SEAL WINS $10,000 RACE
By the Associated Press.
BOWIE, Md., Nov. 30.—King Solomon's Seal won by a nose the $10,000 Thanksgiving Handicap for 3-year-olds and up, yesterday, from a great field, over the mile and three-sixteenths route, making a new track record of 2:02 3/4. The former mark was 2:04, set by Bunga Buck.
The green-tinted Seal's Moonraker, a son of King Solomon's Seal, who led Harry Payne Whitney's Playstair by the same close margin. Exposed to the Moonraker, finished fourth, the rest of the field trailing seven lengths back.

Nebraska and Kansas Tied For Valley Title

Missouri U. Won Only One Conference Game—Kansas Goal Line Uncrossed.

The Missouri Valley Conference football race terminated yesterday with Kansas and Nebraska University teams tied for first place with three victories each. Kansas was tied three times and Nebraska, twice, but neither team lost a game. Kansas had the better record from a standpoint of defense. Its goal line was uncrossed all year and only six points, field goals by Missouri and Oklahoma, were scored against it.
One of the field goals was scored yesterday and it enabled Missouri U. to tie the Kansas, 3 to 3. Walsh, Missouri end, kicked a goal from the 33-yard line in the third quarter and tied the score. The game was played on a field of snow, but was productive of good football, notwithstanding adverse elements.
Nebraska had no trouble in defeating the Kansas Aggies, 34 to 13, thus maintaining its clean slate for the season.

Missouri's Novel Record.
Missouri had the most unusual record in the conference. It won only one game and lost to Washington, the lowest team in the conference, but the Tigers managed to tie Nebraska, 7-7, and Kansas, 3-3, the two teams that finished in a deadlock for the Valley championship.

Drake, which defeated Oklahoma yesterday, 26 to 20, finished in third place with three victories and one defeat. It lost to Kansas, but did not play Nebraska.
Washington U. lost every conference game on its schedule but that with Missouri. The Tigers were heavily favored to win, but when they left the field they had suffered a 13 to 7 defeat.

One of the most unusual records of the season was found in the large number of "o" games. Kansas tied three games, Nebraska, Missouri, two each and Ames one.

The conference standing with points by teams and opponents follows:

The Standings:

TEAM	W	L	T	Pts.	Opp.
Kansas	3	0	2	1,000	110
Nebraska	3	0	2	1,000	91
Oklahoma	3	0	2	1,000	88
Ames	3	0	2	1,000	87
Oklahoma	2	4	0	333	118
Missouri	1	3	2	250	21
Washington	1	4	0	250	21

EAST ST. LOUIS HIGH BEATS ENGLEWOOD 12-2

In all the rain which fell yesterday morning the team of East St. Louis High School won from the Englewood High School eleven of the Englewood, 12 to 2. An 85-yard run by John Hickey after he had intercepted a forward pass in the third quarter was the feature of the game. His long run scored the second touchdown for East St. Louis, after Capt. Ames had put his team in front with a touchdown in the first quarter. Englewood scored a safety.

NO BOGUS TICKETS FOR GAME WITH NOTRE DAME

George Knirim, of the St. Louis University Athletic Board, said today that the alleged counterfeiting of tickets for the St. Louis-Notre Dame game was not based on fact. He said that an excess of tickets for certain rows of seats had been printed by mistake and that a young boy had picked up several of them when they were discarded. He said he did not believe any of them were used.

CENTRAL WILL PLAY MCKINLEY TOMORROW

The final doubleheader of the High School League season, postponed yesterday because of rain and a muddy field, will be played tomorrow at High School Field, Grand boulevard and Locust avenue, with Cleveland and Soldan taking the field at 1:10 o'clock. Central and McKinley will meet in the second game.
If Central defeats McKinley, it will win the Yale Bowl for the third time. It must win it five times to take the trophy permanently.

Yale, Michigan and Illinois, Texas, Cornell and Yale Only Undefeated Teams in East

Pacific Coast Champions Only Sectional Leader With Clear Title—Big Ten Teams Tied for Middle West Honors—Old Eli Considered More Powerful Than Cornell.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The last rites will be observed tomorrow over the body politic of collegiate football, a body in which life is almost extinct. Football is dying a lingering death.

It will die intestate in three out of the four major sections of the country, with the heirs hickering over the legacies of championship honors. In the East, Cornell will take exception to Yale's claim for championship rating, with West Virginia finally eliminated through its defeat yesterday by Washington and Jefferson. In the Middle West Michigan and Illinois are pleased to admit that they rule the roost jointly, and in collaboration, but it would be a rugged matter to convince a Marquette man that his team doesn't belong.

In the South, Texas would seem to be the front runner, but Centre College, unbeaten in its own section, might care to take violent issue. On the West Coast, alone, is the championship a clear one. California has again beaten off all opposition, with Washington running second, and Southern California third.

The sectional champions might be ranked in this manner, to wit: East, Yale; Middle West, Michigan and Illinois; South, Texas; Pacific Coast, California.
The section champions might be ranked in this manner, to wit: East, Yale; Middle West, Michigan and Illinois; South, Texas; Pacific Coast, California.

In the intermediate group, Notre Dame, Minnesota, Chicago and Nebraska would be found. In a corresponding classification here might be placed Syracuse and West Virginia with the remainder of the situation criss-crossed with defeats and counter defeats.

The same holds true of the south where for the first time in some years the field in general appears to have been of mediocre quality. Texas, Baylor, Centre College and Vanderbilt might be said to be the outstanding teams with Texas earning a shade in spite of its greater variety and deception. At that, Texas can be no inept pushover for its beat Vanderbilt 16 points and Vandy held Michigan to a field goal.

Hearn National Speed Champion

Wins Title by Finishing Third In Race at California Speedway.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 30.—Bennett Hill, driving at 112.44 miles an hour, won the 250-mile Thanksgiving day automobile race here yesterday. His time was 2 hours, 13 minutes and 25 seconds.

Hill was followed closely by Jimmy Murphy, who finished in 2 hours, 16 minutes and 30 seconds. Eddie Hearn finished third.
In finishing third Hearn won the 1929 national speed championship. He had a total of 1622 points toward the title before the race started and winning third place today gave him an additional 140 points.

Jimmy Murphy ends the year's racing season in second place with a total of 1470 points to his credit. The standing of other nationally known drivers follows:
Bennett Hill, 955; Harry Hartz, 890; Tommy Milton, 810; Harlan Fensler, 720; Jerry Windovich, 568; Cooper, 310; Frank Elliott, 266; Dave Lewis, 234.

Yesterday's race did not break the record of 115.65 miles an hour that 250 miles held by Jimmy Murphy. Ralph de Palma, who had engine trouble before the start of the race, failed to be a serious contender for the winning honors.

Besides the accident which resulted in the two fatalities, two other mishaps, neither of them resulting in injuries, occurred.

West Virginia's Claim to Title Honor: Eliminated by W. and J. Victory.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Three upsets, one of which eliminated the previously undefeated West Virginia eleven from Eastern football championship consideration, featured the most brilliant Thanksgiving day football program ever offered in the East.

The upsets came in the 7 to 3 defeat of West Virginia by Washington to hand Jefferson, the 20 to 3 trouncing of Penn State by Pittsburg and in Leigh's 12 to 6 victory over Brown.

Bordering on an upset was Pennsylvania's great stand against Glen Doble's Cornell eleven. Fourteen to seven proved the final score of this contest, which left Cornell with its smallest score of the season and resulted in the narrowest victory registered over Penn by Cornell since Doble became coach of the latter team.

The one Eastern team that fulfilled general predictions was that at the Polo Grounds, where Dartmouth triumphed 31 to 6 over Columbia.

A fumble by Nardacel, who has been guilty of several errors this season paved the way to the W. and J. victory over West Virginia. The latter had gone undefeated for eight weeks although tied by Penn State. Certainly they would have had another touchdown to their total. Passes over the line and to the terminals worked like a charm! The third quarter, and it was a pass, from Walsh to Weber, that gave the Pikers their only touchdown.

Claypool shines as passer. Claypool tossed most of the Washington passes and in this particular couldn't have been improved upon. True, Tulane intercepted or knocked down several attempts, but they were at their wits' end to break up this style of attack.

The Pikers were just as much a sea at fathoming the famous Minnecota shift which Coach Shaughtnessy introduced and which he figured out as the game unfolded. Incidentally the Greenies uncovered a neat play they haven't used in a game here this season. It is a case of concealed mass line bucking, a man carrying the ball away from the line and skirting the end that appeals to the best protection.

It was a Cornell fumble late in the game, recovered by McGraw, that paved the way to Penn's score.

In the intersectional game of the day, Vermont proved no match for Marquette and the latter completed its second successive season without a defeat.

A rainstorm lasting hours, but which abated before game time, turned the playing field into something akin to a quagmire and considerable muddling and considerable muddling that would have been the case on a fast field.

There is where Levy had the better of the game. The young Tulane star in the punting duel. He averaged between 40 and 50 yards consistently and this with a wet ball. Both teams resorted to the punting on the first or second down, at times fearing a fumble and preferring to "let the other fellow fumble."

The Pikers were a trifle late in resorting to a style of play that has baffled the Greenies all season—the attack from the air and has they started they would have won. Pikers Start Passing Attack Too Late and Lose to Tulane; Levy's Punts Keep Down Score

New Orleans Eleven, Superior to Washington in End Running, Unable to Solve St. Louis Team's Passing Game Consistently—Minnesota Shift Fools Wimbler's Men.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 30.—The Tulane Greenies are packing away their moleskins until 1934 and doing it with a smile. Yesterday they rounded out one of their most successful seasons by wiping out an old score dating back to 1921, they had with the Washington Pikers by a score of 19 to 8.

A rainstorm lasting hours, but which abated before game time, turned the playing field into something akin to a quagmire and there was much fumbling and considerable more punting than would have been the case on a fast field.

There is where the Pikers had an edge. Levy had the better of Flournoy, the young Tulane star, in the punting duel. He averaged between 40 and 50 yards consistently and this with a wet ball both teams resorted to the punt on the first or second down, always fearing a fumble and preferring to "let the other fellow fumble."

The Pikers were a trifle late in resorting to a style of play that has baffled the Greenies all season
—the attack from the air, and had they started earlier, might have been successful. Certainly they would have added another touchdown to their total. Passes over the line and to the terminals worked like a charm in the third quarter, and it was a pass from Walsh to Weber, that gave the Pikers their only touchdown.

Claypool shines as passer.
Claypool, tossed most of the Washington passes and in this particular couldn't have been improved upon. True, Tulane intercepted or knocked down several attempts, but they were at their wit's end to break up this style of attack.

The Pikers were just as much at sea at fathoming the famous Minnesota shift which Coach Shaughessy introduced and which is the basis of the Tulane offense. Incidentally the Greenies uncovered a new play they haven't used in any game here this season. It is a sort of concealed mass line buck, the man carrying the ball delaying and skirting the end and that appears the least protected.

Lautenschlager, a line plunger, got away with this play for some substantial gains and once used it to get the yardage needed for a touchdown. Lautenschlager was the individual star of the game and figured prominently in the scoring.
He was Tulane's chief reliance as a ground-gainer after Alfred "Brother" Brown was knocked out in a collision with Claypool in the first quarter.

Tulane players felt that Brown would have doubled their score had the field been fast during the period that he played. "Brother" was good for a substantial gain around the yard line and of the Washington line at almost every asking. There isn't a better end-running back in the South than Brown, and though the Pikers didn't see much of "Brother," they were all loud in their praise of his ability at skirting the terminals.

Brown was tearing down the edge of the field for the Pikers goal when Claypool tackled him and forced him out of bounds.
"Brother" was knocked out and a gash that required several stitches was opened over his eye. Clay-pool's head was cut, but, after a hurried doctoring and a bandage, he resumed play.

Brown got back into the game
later, but just for a brief spell.
Shaugheessy, deciding to fight it out with his reserves, had the Pikers were rather persistent toward the close of the game. It was well that Tulane had two sets of good backs to call on. The game was clearly played and fewer fumbles were meted out for rough tackles than in any contest here this season.

It doesn't mean the Pikers and Greenies didn't play hard football and battle every inch of the way, because they did. The sportsmanship of the Pikers and the group

MARQUETTE CRUSHES
VERMONT ELEVEN, 20-0

By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 30.— Marquette University's football team defeated the University of Vermont here yesterday, 20 to 0, in the final game of the season, smothering the visitors under a slashing attack which netted three touchdowns during the first two periods.

During the remainder of the game the Marquette players defended their goal against a passing game which all but brought a score to Vermont, one pass being grounded behind Marquette's last chalk line just out of reach of a Vermont end.

Mat Promoters Plan Tourney to Name Lewis' Foe

Evko, Pletina, Howard and Others Will Meet in Elimination Bout.

George Baptiste, former middleweight wrestling champion and now interested in the promotion of wrestling bouts here, announced today that a determined effort would be made to force Robert Frederichs, known as "Strangler" Ed Lewis, world's catch-as-catch-can wrestling champion, to defend his title, possibly in this city.

Lewis, who has held the title for over two years, has persistently declined to oppose his more dangerous foes, but instead has contented himself with wrestling men of whom he has had little fear.

Baptiste says that in the near future a series of eliminations will be held here in which wrestlers of the class of Marvin Pletina, John Evko, the Jugo-Slav heavyweight who made a favorable impression here; William Demetral, the Greek champion; Mike Howard, wrestling instructor at University of Iowa, and other good ones will participate. The survivors of the series of matches will be offered a bout with Lewis by the promoters and every effort made to force the champion to accept. Financial inducements of $25,000 or more will be held out to the titleholder.

The promoters also expect to bring here Johnny Meyers, middleweight champion, against some wrestler near his class.
John Pesek, through his manager, Maurice Baumman, writes the Post-Dispatch challenging Joe Stecher, an Alabama heavyweight.
Pesek, who recently offered to throw Jim London twice in 30 minutes, now agrees to beat both Wladek Zyzsko and Stecher one fall each the same night. He also wants to wrestle "Old Man" Zyzsko, brother of Wladek, winner-take-all.

Last Night's Fights

NEW YORK.—Louis Vincent, Chilean lightweight, won an impressive victory over Jimmy Carroll of New York with a knockout in the third round.

MOBILE, Ala.—Bobby Waugh of Dallas, Tex., was given the decision over Dick Bell of New York in a 10-round bout.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Anthony Donner, Cincinnati middleweight boxer, outpointed Roy Wallace of Indianapolis in a 10-round bout.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—Johnny Dandee, featherweight champion of the world, lost the judges' decision in a 10-round bout with Al Shubert of this city. There was no title involved. Dandee weighed 132 pounds and Shubert 134 1/2.
Shubert fought the going and carried five rounds by a good margin and two rounds were even.

PHILADELPHIA.—Dana Kramer, Philadelphia featherweight, won the popular decision over Basil Gallo, New Orleans, in his eight-round bout. Alex Shubert, from the crowd, was Sailor Freedman, Chicago, in the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside.

ABERDEEN, S. D.—Gus Nelson, Aberdeen, Washington, heavyweight, knocked out Jack Root of Dallas, Tex., in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

QUITUS HOSPITAL BED
TO SCORE A TOUCHDOWN

By the Associated Press.
ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 30.—Wydman White star fullback of the Virginia Military Institute, arising from his bed in a local hospital where he had been suffering from chills and fever, played in the Virginia Poly Tech Institute-Virginia
Military Institute contest here yesterday afternoon and after three minutes of play carried the ball over for the only touchdown of the game. He was unable to add the point after goal. The game to this time had been a general saw-saw over the muddy field, but following White's arrival in the Cadet lineup the flying squadron was only a threatening offensive until the final whistle. The final score was
V. M. I. 6, V. P. I. 0.

FRANKS PERS CHECKS IN

Frank Pears, minor league ball player and umpire of other days, arrived yesterday at the City Infirmary, where he had been ill for some months. Pears at one time was given a tryout with the Cardinals. He got his start in baseball as a member of the "Jolly Nine," a semi-professional organization that achieved considerable fame.

Genaro Lucky to Get Decision in Tremaine Battle

Victor Dumbfounded When Officials Award Him Victory, Igoo Says.

By Bert Igoo,
Of the New York World Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, was awarded the decision over Carl Tremaine of Cleveland at the end of 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden last night.

In the opinion of this writer Genaro did not come even close to winning. Tremaine stood in the middle of the ring dumbfounded when he heard Joe Humphreys make the announcement. It was Tremaine's fight through sheer stupidity if nothing else.
Genaro was a 1-to-2 shot, and those who watched on him jumped right out of their shoes when the verdict saved their money.
Tremaine came into the ring weighing 116 1/2, and Genaro 113 1/2.
The American flyweight champion had taken the place of Pancho Villa, the world's flyweight king, who injured his ankle in training.
The fight was rather dull and drew a lot of "shoots" from the crowd that filled about three-fourths of the seating capacity. There was a lot of rough work, especially on Genaro's part, and the referee had to keep warning the pair constantly.

New Wonder From South America.
South America has sent up an other fighter who smacks of being great. He is Luis Vincenti, lightweight champion of Chile, and he fought like the lightweight champion of the whole world when he knocked out Jimmy Carroll of the West Side in one minute and 23 seconds of the third round of their scheduled six-round battle.
Three times this fellow has appeared and he has knocked out all three opponents in a total of seven rounds through his terrific hitting.
Make no mistake, Messrs. Leonard Moran, Mitchell, Kansas, Dundee et al., will find him a dangerous opponent. We've seen few harder hitters among lightweights. He is

California Eleven Undeclared in 4 Years Has Won 33 Games

By the Associated Press.
BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 30.—
THE University of California football team, champions of the Pacific Coast Conference for four years, has won 33 games during that time, played two ties and suffered no defeats. California scored a grand total of 1573 points to its opponents' 88.

This is said to be the most impressive record of any college in the country for a like period. Andy Smith, formerly All-American fullback at the University of Pennsylvania, is coach at California.

WEST VIRGINIA LOSES
TO W. AND J., 7 TO 2

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 30.—
The mighty West Virginia Mountaineers yesterday met their masters in the old enemy, the Presidents of Washington and Jefferson College, losing a hard-fought game,
7 to 3.

Time and again West Virginia threatened the W. and J. goal but the Presidents' defense stiffened in the pinch and the Mountaineers were thrown back.

Overbeck Rolls 288 in Mid-West

There were no changes in the leaders of the Middle West bowling tournament produced by yesterday's rolling. O. Overbeck of St. Louis rolled 288 in his single event for the highest single game score bowled so far. He counted 658 for his three games, which placed him in eighth position.

Only one squad of doubles and stingles and one squad of teams bowled yesterday. In the team even six local teams and two from Davenport, Ia., rolled. Of these the J. S. & S. quintet of St.
Louis rolled 1222 for the best score, followed by the Schupachers, also of St. Louis, with 1215. The E.
2802.

In the doubles event the best score was made by A. Salzman and A. Paulsen of Davenport, who counted 1173.
Today 14 teams of the Knights of Columbus League roll and three squads in the doubles and singles events. The first game taking the alleys at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

a natural hitter, too, and sure to make a name for himself before many months go by.
He had old-timers covering their faces with their hands, last night as he shot punches for Carroll's finish. Carroll was floored four times in all, a left hook sending him down for a count of nine in the first round.

AGREEMENT FOR LANDING OF CABLES IN AZORES REACHED

Western Union Company and British Cable Company Reach Accord—Details Not Announced.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A satisfactory understanding regarding the landing of cables at the Azores has been reached between Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Co., and Sir John Pender, chairman of the Western Telegraph Co., the latter announced at the annual meeting of the Western company. He did not explain the details of the agreement.

The proposed Italian subsidized cable to South America with the Western Union connection at the Azores, said Sir John, would form a competitive route to South America and would circumvent his company's Barbados-Miami agreement with the Western Union, which agreement prohibited either company without the consent of the other from directly or indirectly competing with their joint routes, but so long as the proposed cable from New York was used solely for traffic between North America and Italy, the British company would have no grievance.

Regarding the Azores' neutrality as a cable territory, the Portuguese Government would have to answer that, Sir John added, but his company relied for support in its action upon the good-will of that country, which was the oldest of Britain's allies, with whom the Western and associated companies had worked for half a century, to the financial benefit of both Portugal and the companies.

DISHPAN AS ANTENNAE FOR RADIO SET DEVELOPED

Broadcasts 1400 Miles Away Picked Up on Set Invented by Bowden Washington.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 24.—A radio receiver which, with a dish pan for an antennae, catches broadcasts from a station 1400 miles away has been developed by Bowden Washington, radio engineer, it was announced here today.

The receiver, the result of two and one-half years of laboratory efforts, works on a somewhat new principle termed "cascade regeneration," which renders extremely small antennae highly effective.

With four dry cell audio tubes and a dish pan on a chair for an antennae and another on the floor for a "counter poise," signals from Dallas, Tex., were heard 1400 miles distant on a loud speaker. The receiver works equally well with a fly screen, a six-foot wire, a horn or any small body of metal for an antennae, the announcement said. The receiver is also extremely selective.

Washington is the designer of seven large commercial radio stations in the United States.

More Printers at Work.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Generally prosperous conditions in the printing industry have contributed to a reduction in the number of union printers drawing strike benefits in the strike for the 44-hour working week in commercial printing shops, Charles P. Howard, acting president of the International Typographical Union, announced. The strike has been proceeding for 10 months and 1545 members drew benefits in the last month, a decrease of 111 from the preceding month. Shops in 44 cities are still affected by the strike. The sum of $16,228,922.81 has been collected for purposes of the strike since May 29, 1921.

Built into the "heart" of Bond's Clothes
Dependability

THE factor that really determines the "life of your clothes"—the shape-holding qualities of your clothes—is built under the surface—you can't see it by just looking at a garment.

In Bond's tailored clothes the important inner construction—the actual functioning parts—are tailored to the most exacting specifications. The extreme care in the making gives you the utmost assurance of dependability—an assurance of a good-looking garment not only at the time you buy it—but after months and months of exposure to wear and weather.

Bond's Boys' Shop
for Boys from 7 to 20

Bond's direct method of merchandising is a sensible, economical plan. We own and operate a tremendous tailoring plant—the product of which is sold direct to you through our own distributing stations—for cash! This method eliminates all unnecessary selling expenses and we believe saves you $10 to $20.

All we ask is that you give us a few minutes of your time. We want you to feel perfectly AT HOME in our store. Whether or not you buy is entirely up to you—but we DO believe your own good judgment will show you the advisability of Bond's tailored clothes.

INHERITS FORTUNE FROM SUPPOSED PAUPER

A new photograph of Rosalie Wurthmann of Jersey City, N. J., to whom Louis Lehmyer, who died in a New York charity hospital, and was supposed to have been a pauper, left the residue of a large estate, estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000. He gave $100,000 of it to New York City charity organizations, and the balance to Miss Wurthmann, with whose grandparents he came to this country fifty years ago, and at whose marriage he was best man. He was 92 years old at his death.

Sally's Gaze Moves Kemp

Mostly Sally By P. G. Wodehouse
A CONTINUED STORY

To Muss Up 'Bugs' Butler

SALLY plucked at the little manager's elbow. He turned irritably, but beamed in a distrust sort of manner when he perceived the source of the interruption.

"Who—him?" he said, in answer Sally's whispered question. "He's just one of Bugs' sparring partners."

"But—"

Mr. Burrows, fussy now that the time had come for action, interrupted her.

"You'll excuse me, miss, but I have to hold the watch. We mustn't waste any time."

Sally drew back. She felt like an infidel who intrudes upon the celebration of strange rites. This was Man's hour, and women must keep in the background. She had the sensation of being very small and yet very much in the way, like a puppy that has wandered into a church. The novelty and solemnity of the scene saved her.

She looked at Ginger, who with averted gaze was fiddling with his clothes in the opposite corner of the ring. He was as far removed from communication as if he had been in another world. She continued to stare, wide-eyed, and Ginger, shuffling his feet self-consciously, plucked at his gloves.

Mr. Butler, meanwhile, having doffed his bathrobe, stretched himself, and with leisurely nonchalance put on a second pair of gloves, was filling in the time with a little shadow-boxing. He moved rhythmically to and fro, now ducking his head, now striking out with his muffled hands, and a sickening realization of the man's animal power swept over Sally and turned her cold. Swathed in his bathrobe, Bugs Butler had conveyed an atmosphere of dangerousness; in the boxing tights which showed up every rippling muscle he was horrible and sinister—a machine built for destruction, a human panther.

So he appeared to Sally, but a stout and bulbous-eyed man standing at her side was not equally impressed. Obviously one of the Wise Guys of whom her friend the sport-

Filled With Fear for Kemp's Safety

"Of course he'll eat this red-headed ink," went on the first wise guy. "That's the thing he does best, killing his sparring partners. But Lew Lucas—"

Sally was not interested in Lew Lucas. That numbing fear had come back to her. Even these cogent, innocent little as they seemed Mr. Butler, had instilled no doubts as to what he would do to Ginger. She tried to tear herself away, but something stronger than her own will kept her there standing where she was, holding on to the rope and staring torridly into the ring.

"Ready, Bugs?" asked Mr. Burrows.

The coming champion nodded carelessly.

"Go to it," said Mr. Burrows. Ginger ceased to pluck at his gloves and advanced into the ring.

Of all the learned professions, pugilism is the one in which the trained expert is most sharply divided from the mere dabbler. In the other fields the amateur may occasionally hope to compete successfully with the man who has made a business of what is to him but a sport, but boxing, never, and the whole demeanor of Bugs Butler showed that he had laid this truth to heart. It would be too little to say that his bearing was confident; he supported himself with the square-jawed jauntiness of an infant about to demolish a Noah's Ark.

Ginger Speeds Up and Lands on Nose

"Ah!" said the second wise guy. But Mr. Butler, if he heard this criticism—and it is probable that he did—for the wise ones had been restrained by no delicacy of feeling from raising their voices, was in no way discommoded by it. Bugs Butler knew what he was about. Bright eyes were watching him, and he meant to give them a treat. The girls like smooth work. Any rough-neck could sail into a guy and knock the daylight out of him, but how few could be clever and flashy and scientific! Few, few, indeed, thought Mr. Butler as he said in and it once more.

Something solid smote Mr. Butler's nose, rocking him on to his heels and inducing an unpleasant burning sensation about his eyes. He backed away and regarded Ginger with astonishment, almost with pain. Until this moment he had scarcely considered him as an active participant in the scene at all, and he felt strongly that this sort of thing was bad form. It was not being done by sparring partners.

A juster man might have reflected that he himself was to blame. He had undeniably been careless. In the very act of leading he had allowed his eyes to flicker sideways to see how Sally was taking this exhibition of science, and he had paid the penalty. Nevertheless, he was furious. He shimmered about the ring, thinking it over. And the more he thought it over, the less he approved of his young assistant's conduct. Hard thoughts to-ing office-boy had spoken, he was frankly disatisfied with the exhibition.

"Shadow-boxing," he observed in a caving spirit to his companion. "Yes, he can do that all right, just like I can fox-trot if I ain't got a partner to get in the way. But one good wallop, and then watch him."

His friend, also plainly a guy of established wisdom, assented with a curt nod.

"Ah!" he agreed.

"Lew Lucas," said the first wise guy, "is just as shifty, and he can punch."

"Ah," said the second wise guy. "Just because he beats up a few poor mutts of sparring partners."

"That's the first wise guy disparagingly," he thinks he's someone."

"Ah!" said the second wise guy. As far as Sally could interpret these remarks, the full meaning of which was shrouded from her, they seemed to be reassuring.

A comforting moment she ceased to regard Ginger as a martyr waiting to be devoured by a lion. Mr. Butler, she gathered, was not so formidable as he appeared. But her relief was not to be long-lived.

With a tack-hammer, Cyclone Mullins might withstand him for 15 rounds where this yielded to a K-leg Blain in the fifth, but when it came to a real partner—and an amateur at that, Bugs Butler knew his potentialities. He was there forty ways and he did not attempt to conceal it. Crouching as was his wont, he snatched himself like a striking rattlesnake and flicked Ginger lightly over his guard. Then he returned to his crouch and circled slyly about the ring with the amiable intention of showing the crowd, payees and deadheads alike, what real foot work was. If there was one thing on which Bugs Butler prided himself, it was footwork.

His crouch, "lighty," is a relative term, and the blow which he just planted a dull patch on Ginger's cheekbone affected those present in different degrees. Ginger himself appeared stolidly calm. Sally shuddered to the core of her being and had to hold more tightly to the rope to support herself. The two wise guys mocked openly. To the wise guys, expert connoisseurs of swat, the thing had appeared richly farcical. They seemed to consider the blow administered to a third party and not to themselves, hardly worth calling a blow at all. Two more, landing as quickly and neatly as the first, left them equally cold.

"Call that punching?" said the first wise guy.

wards Ginger began to float in his mind.

Ginger, too, was thinking hard thoughts. He had not had an idea since he had come to the training camp, but never till today had he experienced any resentment towards his employer. Until this afternoon the Bugs Butler had pounded him honestly and without malice, and he had gone through with it, as the other sparring partners did, phlegmatically, taking it as part of the day's work. But this afternoon there had been a difference. Those careless flicks had been an insult, a deliberate offense. The man was trying to make a fool of him, playing to the gallery; and the thought of who was in that gallery inflamed Ginger past thought of consequences. No one, not even Mr. Butler, was more keenly alive than he to the fact that in a serious conflict with a man who tomorrow night might be lightweight champion of the world he stood no chance whatever; but he did not intend to be made an exhibition of in front of Sally without doing something to hold his end up. He prepared to go down with his flag flying, and in pursuance of this object he dug Mr. Butler heavily in the lower ribs with his right, causing that expert to utter sharp barking sounds of derision.

"Say, what the hell d'ya think you're getting at?" demanded the aggrieved pugilist in a heated whisper in Ginger's ear as they fell into

Mme. Fahmy's Story of How Young Prince Wooded and Won Her

THE Post-Dispatch today presents the first of a series of articles on Mme. Fahmy's sensational romance which culminated in the tragic death of her young husband. The story is told by Mme. Fahmy herself and reveals the innermost secrets of her affair with the Mussulman "prince." Subsequent articles will appear on this page each Friday.

By MARIE MARGUERITE FAHMY.

I put in its proper setting any description of the early days of my acquaintance with Ali Fahmy, his ardent wooing and his extravagant conduct, it is necessary, first of all, to indicate one side of his character, which I did not then fully realize, but which I afterward saw formed a clew to much of his amazing behavior.

I refer to his overweening vanity. What at first I took to be a certain audacious conceit which a woman of the world finds rather humorous, I learned later was one of his overmastering emotions.

In the early days I laughed over it. How often later was it to be the basis of many an incident that made me cry!

It was that kind of pride which made him say when he entered even the finest European hotels, "Look, they feel that there is a Prince in the room!" He even imagined that the musicians made a momentary pause, so conscious were they of the magnificence of the personage who had arrived. It was this vanity which I found was the cause of the amazing scene on the Nile, only briefly outlined at the trial—and the details of which I will give later—when clad only in black silk pajamas he chased in a motor boat and thrashed till they shrieked for mercy some native sailors who had roused his anger.

But I am concerned now with those early days in which, as I have stated, the indications of what proved to be conceit, sans bornes, seemed little more than the amusing weakness of a youth.

The Fatal Meeting.

It was in January, 1922, some time before I was destined really to make the acquaintance of Fahmy, that I saw him in Cairo. When I was on a visit there a magnificent individual who proved to be this very characteristcally he said to one of his friends who knew me: "Tell her I will give a fete Venetienne on my yacht in her honor." Naturally I felt intrigued at the thought of such a personality, but somehow or other I felt that it was better to refuse.

At Paris in May I met him in such places as the Chateau de Madrid and Au Pre Catalain. Soon I became conscious that I could hardly go out without sooner or later finding the steadfast gaze of this foreigner fixed the embrace. "What's the idea, you jelly bean?"

Ginger maintained a pink silence. His jaw was set, and the temper which Nature had bestowed upon him to go with his hair had reached white heat. He dodged a vicious right which whizzed up at his chin out of the breaking clinch, and rushed. A left hook shook him, but was too high to do more. There was rough work in the far corner, and suddenly with startling abruptness Bugs Butler, bothered by the ropes at his back and trying to sidestep, ran into a spring and fell.

"Tim!" shouted the scandalized Mr. Burrows, utterly aghast at this frightful misadventure. In the whole course of his professional experience he could recall no such devastating occurrence.

To Be Continued in the Post-Dispatch.

Lemon Butter.

Into the upper part of a double boiler put one-half pound butter, the grated rinds of three washed lemons, then the juice, two cupsful sugar and break in six eggs. Set over boiling water and beat with an egg-beater until it is thick, about 10 minutes. Spread on slices of sponge cake while hot or between layers of cake for a filling when cold. To fill tart shells it is excellent, and can be kept on hand in the refrigerator for emergency use. It is delicious when spread on graham or whole wheat bread, hot biscuits and muffins.

This is made inside of half an hour and costs only 50 cents when eggs are 30 cents a dozen, butter 44 cents a pound and lemons three for 10 cents.

yearningly upon me. Again and again he sought an introduction to me, but always failed.

I went to spend part of July at Deauville with a large party of friends, and while there became acquainted with an exceedingly charming woman living in Morocco with her husband. I felt very sympathetically attracted to her and to her young sister, a remarkably pretty girl, and took them back in my car to Paris.

One day, toward the end of July, this lady telephoned to me, saying: "I have a friend who absolutely must make your acquaintance. He says that it is his sole ambition while he is in Paris." Mystified, I agreed to a rendezvous for tea in the lounge of the Majestic Hotel on the 80th.

Perhaps I should say now that I felt myself in the grip of some such fate as your novelist Hardy portrays in his books. That would be hardly true. Yet, it is no exaggeration to say that when I walked into the lounge and again found fixed upon me the large, dark eyes of the man whom I knew to be Ali Fahmy, when I saw that now indeed there was no avoiding this introduction, I experienced a curious tressaillement.

My friend had never mentioned the name of the individual who so longed to meet me, and it never occurred to me that it was this Egyptian "Prince."

It was an enchanting day. All proposed going to the Chateau de Madrid, and I agreed. Then as we walked to the door came perhaps the first of those incidents revealing how this very remarkable man sought always to carry off an affair on Prince.

"Which Do You Prefer?"

Other men would have said: "My car is outside." All conducted me to the hotel entrance, and pointing to two superb cars, one a Rolls-Royce coupe limousine and the other a dazzling "torpedo," said: "Which do you prefer?"

With, I am afraid, rather an amused smile, I said I would prefer the closed car. Most of the conversation consisted of gentle rallyery concerning my having avoided him for so long.

Other meetings followed. I made the acquaintance of Said Enani, his secretary; his Egyptian lawyer, and his second secretary. We went for a drive in his open Rolls-Royce, which he asked me to drive. "I have a habit," he said, "of changing speed without declutching, and passing from the second to the third and fourth gears, using only the accelerator." I have driven a good deal, but I had no experience of shooting a car along in that startling fashion.

Once again we met at Deauville, but it was only for an evening. At a rather late hour he saw me enter the baccarat room. He was losing steadily many thousands of francs, but as soon as he saw me it was clear that the game no longer existed for him.

The next day, however, I went to Paris. Then followed a series of telephone calls, telegrams, and visits which surely must have constituted as ardent a wooing as any woman ever experienced. As will be seen, he would dash half way across a continent for an hour with me.

He started as soon as I reached Paris. Every day he telephoned to me from Deauville, and when the day came for my departure for that town he arrived at my door beseeching me to go with him in his car, as he had made the journey with that sole object. It was impossible to resist such supplication.

A lady friend who was with me and I got into his Rolls-Royce, and my maid traveled with the luggage in my car. The journey was a delightful one, though spoiled for the first few miles by the speed at which Ali drove.

He was indeed a "velocitmaniac"—if there is such a word. He traveled at a rate which fairly made one's head spin. I congratulated him on his brilliant driving, but begged him to go more slowly, a request with which he complied.

At Deauville, however, a more serious note began to creep into his expressions of affection. But I would not yield, and after three days of vain supplication he decided to leave Deauville and go to Italy. Fervently he tried to persuade my friend and myself to accompany him, for at Deauville, where I had many friends, I had often good excuses for not accepting his invitations.

He, besought, implored, entreated; but I would not listen. At last, with a great show of temper, he flung himself off, taking with him all his entourage—his three companions of whom I have spoken, his black valet, and an Egyptian chauffeur, a chocolate-colored Colossus.

Swiftly on the arrival of Ali at Verona he sent me a telegram. On the twenty-first, only five days after he had left for Italy, as I was dining in the Casino at Deauville, I saw the "Prince" and his friends return. After dinner, again in the baccarat room, he came to me and said that he had come back in such haste just to see me again, as I was never absent from his thoughts.

We chatted in friendly fashion, and I said farewell to him at 2 o'clock in the morning. It was until this hour that again and again he ardently sought to woo me until, from sheer fatigue, I left him abruptly.

His Fierce Pursuit.

So fierce was his pursuit of me the next day that I left Deauville, sending him a letter to the effect that I would be prepared to see him later when he was more reasonable.

That was in the morning. The same evening he was in Paris—now a very "prince" of lovers, a kindly, courteous cavalier. For eight days he was so tender, so coaxing, so attentive, that one could not imagine a suitor with greater charm.

Let me describe, if I can, Fahmy's appearance at this time. He was a man of exceptional powers of fascination. He would be about 5 feet 9 inches in height, and though he did not go in for athletics, he was of singularly muscular and powerful build.

After he would take me up by the waist and, posing me at arms' length above his head, would say jestingly: "Now, what can do you? You are a feather."

It was in vain that I would implore him to put me down. Not until, with a sort of childish vanity, he had made me admit how strong he was would he release me.

Never have I met a man who possessed to such a degree that kind of charm which we are accustomed to call Oriental. About his black hair there was just a reddish tint—most unusual in one of his race. His large, dark eyes were remarkably expressive, normally striking one with the exceptionally caressing quality of their glance, but suddenly hardening on occasions (as I learned later) into a ferocity which was positively terrifying.

What, however, appealed to me most, I think, was his smile. Really, it is no exaggeration to say that it was like that of a child. Yet behind it was that well-developed jaw which, as I experienced before long, could set any moment in cruel outline.

But at present all was charm and sweet-

The Fashion Mirror

In general appearance the Parisienne these days resembles a tube. She is slim to the vanishing point, and every line that makes her look slim makes her also look tall. The pencil silhouette appears to be her goal.

Little color is used now upon the cheeks in Paris. The lips are still bright carmine, but the rest of the face is tinted in ivory, with the eyebrows thin and clearly defined.

The Queen of Rumania, who every now and then flits in and out of London, sets a new fashion with almost every visit. Her latest contribution to the styles is a turban in the shape of a coronet, so bestrawed with pearls and gems that at first glance it seems to be a royal crown.

One of the glittering costume overblouses shown in London is a fantastic geometrical display in brilliant. Spheres, triangles, rhomboids, all are worked out in shining beads.

An evening gown of chiffon velvet—at present among the most fashionable materials—shown in New York is loosely draped in a Greek tunic effect over an under bodice of white broad satin. Its other interesting features are a lack of sleeve, draped back and a rhinestone girdle.

Into the upper part of a double boiler put one-half pound butter, the grated rinds of three washed lemons, then the juice, two cupsful sugar and break in six eggs. chanted place. How can I describe impressions that scores of scribes than mine have sought in vain to portray? What wonders unfolded themselves to the eyes of one who, like myself, was arriving in this country in which she had been promised the life of a Princess!

We reached Alexandria in a sunshine so dazzling that it made one's eyes blink. As the boat approached the harbor first there appeared an enormous white mass, which gradually resolved itself into low, houses, minarets and overhanging buildings. In the brilliant light the whiteness seemed overpowering. In the port picturesquely clad Arabs dashed toward us with wild cries, literally seeking to tear away our luggage.

But here was Ali Fahmy, armed with special permission, coming on board to seek us out. A powerful motor car was waiting, and in this we swiftly traveled to his villa, a few miles from Alexandria on the seacoast—the Biarritz of Egypt.

The journey to Cairo was made by train, where we arrived three hours later. Making our way through a crowd of Arabs, we stepped into a powerful car, drove through the town and reached the palace of Zamalek on the other side of the Nile. Two other cars followed with the luggage and the servants.

When I entered this sumptuous building I seemed to be commencing an adventure such as one reads of in the "Thousand and One Nights."

Let me describe this sumptuous structure in which I was installed like a Princess. In the interior it is a copy of that of Fontainebleau. Brilliant lights were cunningly placed in such a way as to reveal in glowing radiance the smallest decorative feature while not dazzling the eyes. Twelve black servants in uniforms laced with gold awaited us at intervals on the steps.

In the hall all I noticed at first were six massive white marble columns rising to the ceiling at the lower end, a sweeping staircase, also of white marble, with handrails in wrought iron. Above this a richly colored stained glass window sheds its soft and varied tints on the gleaming marble.

All Fahmy took us straight into his own rooms. The first is what he called an office, but it is furnished in Empire style with chandeliers of wrought iron and constitutes a library in which the most valuable books are ranged row after row. This part of the building Ali Fahmy had made a particularly close copy of the corresponding part of the palace at Fontainebleau.

Maitre Asswad, Mme. Fahmy's advocate, has indicated the rate at which this mere boy squandered his money. At the time of his tragic death he was only 23, and it was only four years earlier that he had come possessed of the great wealth which he inherited from his father. In addition to $150,000 ready money, he had a revenue on lands worth nearly a million sterling.

It is estimated that in four years he must have spent at least half a million. The money went on the most extravagant personal display, in the erection of sumptuous buildings, on women and wine, cars and traveling, and to his abandonment to the abnormal vice which was indicated in the Old Bailey trial. (Copyright, 1923.)

TODAY I want to tell you something about two kinds of itch. The first of these is commonly known as "the itch." It is a disgusting and obnoxious disturbance due to the presence of a parasite in the skin.

The parasite causes intense itching. The effect of this is to provoke scratching and inflammation of the skin. The lesions may become infected and filled with pus.

Usually the trouble begins between the fingers. It may be in the folds of the wrists or under the arms. The soles of the feet and the palms of the hands may be involved in young children. Of course, other parts of the body may be attacked.

There are tiny blisters. On close examination tiny channels or burrows may be seen. At the inner end of each canal is a minute gray mark, the parasite itself.

The eggs of the pest are laid in the channels and it takes eight or 10 days for them to hatch. In the scratching of the victim the parasites are carried to other parts of the body. In this way the involved portions increase in number and area.

In the treatment of this common form of itch proceed as follows:

Take a warm bath, with lots of soap. The affected parts should be made absolutely clean, using a stiff brush for thorough cleansing. After this apply the local remedy.

The remedy may be one of several, but about as satisfactory as any is precipitated sulphur. Make a 10 per cent mixture with benzoinated lard or lanolin.

If the first treatment is at night, repeat it next morning, bath, sulphur ointment and all.

Each day the underclothing should be fresh and clean. The original clothing should be sterilized before wearing again. Otherwise, there may be reinfection from the clothes. Likewise, the bed linen should be changed frequently.

A week or 10 days of this treatment will effect a cure.

There is another form of itch, called "ground-itch," which I wish to speak about at this time. This may be the first sign of the hookworm disease.

Ground-itch is caused by infection with the larvae of the hookworm. Persons walking about barefooted in wet places, when the soil is contaminated with the feces of hookworm victims, may have the toes and ankles attacked.

Since children are more likely to go about in bare feet, they are more likely than adults to be afflicted. Miners and gardeners who get their bare hands into the dirt may pick up this trouble.

There is no danger of ground-

Yourself

By J. J. MUNDY.

GET away from the idea for you is drab, dreary and commonplace.

Suppose you do have to follow a beaten course every day.

Isn't this true of practically every human being?

There must be more or less routine in each man's civilized life.

But because you must do the same thing every day is not a good reason why you need to get into a mental rut.

And it is your mental attitude which affects your daily grind.

Try branching out in your thinking.

Try to work out some new ways of doing your daily task. Improve each move that you make for better workmanship and more speed.

You will find that you can get new angles on your work if you will.

These new angles will increase your interest in your work.

It must be interesting to create enthusiasm, and enthusiasm makes a success of whatever you undertake.

Success is a means to happiness and a colorful life. (Copyright, 1923.)

Turkey Leftovers

A platter of cold sliced turkey, or turkey heated in the gravy, is a second day dinner, then the rack is left to strip. This yields meat out fine for turkey hash or chopped for turkey croquettes, a matter of choice.

The rack, trimmings and even the stuffing may go into the soup pot with any leftover bones, a can of tomatoes, and a soup bunch. Boil for an hour and a half, then strain through a sieve. Reheat, season, thicken slightly, and add a quarter of a cupful of melon seed macaroni, cook 10 minutes and serve.

Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

Things in themselves are never strange; Your point of view has changed to change.

—Old Mother Nature.

NANNY MEADOW MOUSE was no longer afraid of the great man-bird or of the aviator. She knew now that it was just as this man who made the great man-bird fly was really their friend, even though he kept them prisoners. So when their cage was placed up in front where they were protected, but where they could look down and see the Great World spread below them, Nanny actually began to enjoy flying, just as Danny did.

They were looking down on a strange land. That is, it was strange to them. They saw forests and meadows and brooks and rivers and lakes, but all were strange. They were not like the Green Forest, the Green Meadows, the Laughing Brook and the Big River, which they had known all their lives. When the great man-bird came down near the ground the very plants seemed different and all the time the air grew warmer.

There were times when Danny and Nanny sniffed and sniffed and wondered why the air was so different. That was when they were near the ocean and the air was salt. There were times when they looked off in one direction and saw nothing but water, water, as far as they could see. The sky and the water seemed to meet. It was as if in that direction the whole Great World had turned to water. They knew not what to make of it. Of course they were looking out to sea, and of course they knew nothing about it.

It was exciting. There was something new every instant. When they were low enough they saw houses that were very different from Farmer Brown's house.

Once they passed close to a big bird sailing high in the sky.

They saw ships on the water and they thought they must be some new and strange living creatures. Once they passed close to a big bird sailing high in the sky, and they recognized him. It sent funny little thrills all over them. That big bird was Ol' Mistah Buzzard. Yes, sir, it was Ol' Mistah Buzzard, whom they had watched so many times sailing above the Green Meadows at home. They knew then beyond a doubt that they must be down in the Sunny South.

How they did want to talk over the things they saw! But it was useless to try while they were flying. You see, that great man-bird made such a noise that they couldn't hear each other at all. They must wait for the great man-bird to come down to earth before they could talk. It was all so exciting and so wonderful that they quite forgot that they were being carried farther and farther from their old home. In fact, they were already beginning to think of that man-bird as their home.

At last they began to glide down, down, down, in a strange alliance, because the engine of the airplane had stopped. They knew that this meant that they were coming down to earth. How eagerly they looked down. And how strange it all looked. There were some pine trees, but even these were different from the pine trees they had known in the Green Forest. But there were many other trees wholly unlike any trees they had ever seen before. Something told them that at last they were really and truly way down in the Sunny South, the land they had so often heard about. They fairly ached to get out and run about and see what it was all like. (Copyright, 1923.)

Crab Flakes With Green Peppers

Melt two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan. Add one sweet green pepper cut in very fine shreds, simmer until pepper is soft but not brown; add one cup of fresh or canned crab meat, flaked, discarding the thin bones; season with salt, pepper and paprika. Stir until the ingredients are well blended. Add one cup of cream and let simmer 10 minutes. Remove from range and stir in the yolk of one egg slightly beaten and diluted with one tablespoon of cream. Mix thoroughly and serve on hot rounds of buttered toast or hot crisp crackers.

The Man on the Sandbox

BALLADE OF TURKEY.

At midnight in his guarded coop,
The turkey was strutting round on high;
He said he didn't care a whoop,
As no one could afford to buy.
And so he winked his other eye,
And chuckled in his turkish way;
"Tomorrow I'll not have to die,
To make a Roman holiday."

ENVOY.

"PRINCE, please pass the pumpkin pie."
I think I hear the children say;
But pork and applesauce, not I,
Will make their Roman holiday."

ZONING.

ZONING, zoning, what is it all about?
For many a stormy wind shall blow
Ere things are straightened out.
Zoning, zoning, how do they get that way?
The building laws are full of flaws,
And the divul and all's to pay!

FILMSY.

One gent said that the old ordinance was in effect five years but that it was well known that it would not stand in law. Probably it was only intended to stand as long as some of the apartments built under it.

Probably Germany is just using it to mark time.

"Studebaker-Maxwell Merger Not Closed."
There was a merger of a Ford and a locomotive the other day that attracted a bit of attention.

WHY NOT?
See where Hiram Johnson condemns President Coolidge's foreign policy. Why not enter condemnation proceedings?

Incidentally, we note that Gov. Hyde condemns most of the foreign insurance policies in Missouri.

If Gov. Hyde has any political pull, the man on the sandbox suggests that he exerts it to pull Missouri out of the mud.

THE WEIRD BREED OF TROUPERS.
WALTER KINGBLEY, a theatrical man, happened to strike a small town in the northern part of the State of New York. "So you're in the theater business?" said the proprietor of the little hotel where Kingbley stopped. "Well, all I've got to say is that you troupers certainly are a funny lot! Thirty-seven of them minstrel fellows stopped over with me two nights last week and all of them was named Cull but one—and his name was Props!"
